FOREWORD

IN a sincere attempt to make this HOWLER more complete, we have been radical enough to incorporate within these covers several innovations which we hope will make this volume more interesting and a more valued keepsake. We present it for what it is supposed to be—a picture, in part, of college life during the past year. But there is much that cannot be written here—that indefinable but powerful concept known as "college spirit," which envelopes our campus, and the faith and love we feel for Old Wake Forest. These will last long beyond the life of the printed page. If, in the distant future when the winter time of life has come to us, these pages shall awaken sweet reminiscences of days both bright and blue, spent under the shadows of Old Gold and Black, then this book will be memory's dearest possession, and the editors' efforts will not have been in vain.

Dear Old Wake Forest

Words by G. W. PASCHAL, '92

Dear old Wake Forest,
Thine is a noble name;
Thine is a glorious fame,
    Constant and true.
We give thee of our praise,
Adore thine ancient days,
Sing thee our humble lays,
    Mother so dear!

Dear old Wake Forest,
Mystic thy name to cheer;
Be thou our guardian near,
    Fore'er and aye.
We bow before thy shrine,
Thy brow with bays entwined,
All honor now be thine,
    Mother, today.

CLASS POEM

Senior Class Poem

O Alma Mater, long have been
 Our separate struggles, hard to win;
 With joy we reach to grasp the prize
 For which we've worked. But let Us not in joy forget
 That life itself before us lies.

We leave thy ancient halls and part
 From scenes we've loved so well; a smart
 Arises in our breasts—we know
 That oft we'll need thy light
 To point us to the right,
 As down the way of life we go.

To us in student days hast thou
 Been true; in turn would we now vow
 To thee allegiance through the years.
 We'll sing thy praise where'er
 We go, and tribute bear:
 Do thou be guide of our careers.

CRIS CRITTENDEN, Eu.
Candidate for M.A.

WAKE FOREST, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 19; Height 5' 11"; Weight 150.

"A woman is only a woman, but a good cigar is a smoke."

Here is a man who cultivates beneath his modestly unassuming conduct the sterling qualities of a nobler type of manhood. While he has never put himself forward in any respect, he was early recognized as one of the most talented and promising members of his class. Both in literary work and in tennis his Alma Mater takes pride in his record. In a quiet way he has made a real contribution to campus life, and friends galore will remember him with delight while they watch his future career with interest and pride.

B.A., '21; Varsity Tennis, '18-'19-'20-'21, Political Science Club, '19-'20-'21-'22; President Club, '20-'21, Secretary Club, '21-'22.

ROSS BYNUM WILSON, Eu.
Candidate for M.A.

SUGAR GROVE, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 23; Height 5' 10"; Weight 150.

*"The power, the beauty, and the majesty
That have their haunts in dale, or piny mountain,
Or forest by slow streams, or pebbly spring,
Are mine to seek eternally."*

It was with great pleasure that Wilson's many friends saw him enter again upon the threshold of his Alma Mater as "Bug" instructor and a candidate for the Master's Degree. Wilson had an extremely successful career during his four years of undergraduate work in college, being one of the lucky "two" to emerge with his diploma stamped with the words, "Magna Cum Laude." He is a lively, congenial fellow, always ready to hear a good clean joke and enjoy a hearty laugh. Being a typical mountaineer, he possesses their characteristic of being a "purty good mixer." His friends, therefore, will watch with interest his upward climb and will bid him godspeed.

B.A., '21; Chairman of Student Senate, '21-'22; Instructor in Biology, '20-'21-'22.

MERRELL PAUL WRIGHT, Phi
Candidate for M.A.

WENDELL, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 24; Height 5' 10"; Weight 180.

"While I live, I crow."

After receiving his B.A. in '20, Merrell came back to get his M.A. with the Class of '22, and it has been a delight to have a fellow of his congenial type on the campus for another year. As usual, Merrell has taken an active interest in athletics and labored diligently on the gridiron and the basketball court; and the same consistency that has marked his athletic endeavors has been shown likewise in all of his class work. It is not unseemingly, therefore, to predict that when he goes forth as a professor of science those who sit at his feet seeking knowledge will recognize the superb character and genial spirit of the man as we know him.

B.A., '20.

THOMAS WHITMELL ALLEN, Eu.
Candidate for LL.B.

RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 21; Height 5' 7"; Weight 110.

"A silent man may be wise; a talker must be."

The sobriquets by which this young gentleman is known are fitting: "Heavy," "Climax," "Oyster," and in his chosen profession of law, "Thomas Blackstone Erudition Allen." But we cannot judge a person by his exterior or the anfractuities of his intellect; for outside of being president of the "Campus Brotherhood," Tom is recognized as being a shining "legal light" on all subjects pertaining to the law. And when it comes to talking—"O Time! where is thy limit?" Samuel Johnson never had a larger crowd around him when he sat at the college gate than does this youngster daily gather around himself either on the campus or in the postoffice. "Heavy" intends to begin the practice of law at some early date, and it is the expectation of his pals some day to hear of him being the Marshall of his time.

Historian Sophomore Class, '21; Admitted to North Carolina Bar, '21; Anniversary Orator, '21; Commencement Orator, '22.

FRANCIS ALTON ARMSTRONG, JR.

Candidate for LL.B.
HOBGOOD, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 23; Height 5' 9"; Weight 167.

"If I cannot find a way, I will make one."

Coming to Wake Forest in 1918, Frank has affiliated himself with many phases of college life, winning, however, his greatest distinction on the gridiron and the diamond. His football career reached a climax in the Davidson game last fall when his speedy backfield work was largely instrumental in taming the Wildcats, 10 to 7. Though a strong player in both baseball and football, Frank's great popularity is due chiefly to his clean sportsmanship in athletics and on the campus. But Frank is not only an athlete—this is secondary; he is also a steady student and an all-round, jolly good fellow. Legally inclined, he leaves us this year, a man learned in the law.

Varsity Football, '18, '20, '21; Varsity Baseball, '20, '21, '22; Special Gymnasium Team, '21-'22; Manager Law Class Basketball, '22; Member "W" Club, '20, '21, '22.

JAMES CLARENCE ANDERS

Candidate for B.A. Med.
NORFOLK, VIRGINIA

Age 25; Height 5' 8½"; Weight 138.

"Work, for the night cometh, when no man can work."

Everyone admires a worker; that is why Anders is admired and esteemed by all who know him. His college career has been one of varied but excellent work. In '15-'16 he attended the University of Virginia; from '17 to '18 he was a missionary student at the Moody Bible Institute, graduating with honors in '18; from '18 to '20 he was a pre-med student at Columbia University, where he won the Perry McDonough Collins scholarship for three hundred dollars. He is completing his medical training here after two years of conscientious work, and he leaves us to continue his studies at a higher institution. Because of his cure from a case of tuberculosis of the hip-joint in answer to prayer, he has decided to serve as a medical missionary in the Dark Continent.

Marshall Medical Society, '20-'21, '21-'22; Assistant in Pathology, '21-'22.

RANSOM STRINGFIELD AVERITT, Phi.
Candidate for B.A.

CLAYTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 20; Height 5' 6"; Weight 135.

*"The true ambition there alone resides
Where justice vindicates and wisdom guides."*

Beginning with his first week at Wake Forest, we saw in Averitt the qualities of a natural leader. During his four years with us he has neglected none of his various talents. His ability as a debater and platform speaker has added to the luster of our intercollegiate debating records. Ransom, by a successful mingling of law and letters, gives promise of a statesman of unusual worth. Versatile, optimistic, genuine—the Class of '22 can show no better example of modest greatness than its president.

C., '20; Anniversary Debater, '21; Wake Forest-Davison Debate, '21; Debate Council, '21-'22; Laysister Chemical Society, Secretary '20, President '21; International Relations Club, '21; Philosophy Club, '21-'22; Education Club, '21; Quill Club, '21-'22; Assistant in Chemistry, '21; President Senior Class, '22; Intercollegiate Debater, '22; Commencement Orator.

TERRY R. BAIN, Phi.
Candidate for B.A.

DUNN, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 21; Height 5' 9"; Weight 150.

*"I hate the man who builds his name
On the ruins of another's fame."*

Terry, following the upward process of education, left the huckleberry swamps of Sampson for the learned halls of Wake Forest, only to find that Minerva had been subjugated by Mars. However, when the S. A. T. C. broke up at the termination of war he continued with us. His quiet but congenial manners have drawn to him many friends. In society halls and class rooms his work has ever been fair and consistent. Many hours has he spent burning oil with the poets and sages of old. Terry's nature and studies have cooperated to make of him a cultured gentleman, and as such he can fill a place anywhere he goes.

Secretary Philomathean Society, '21; Special Gymnasium Team, '21; Education Club, '21-'22

OSCAR D. BAXTER
 Candidate for B.A. Med.
 RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 35; Height 5' 5"; Weight 150.

"What he does as a doctor he used to do also as an undertaker."

Since Baxter began to associate with Professor Taylor he has become a "hard" guy. Previously he was gentle and kind, except when out hunting golf balls. His joy and pride now is the new Mary Elizabeth Hospital in Raleigh, which he helped to establish. Having an O.D. degree before coming to Wake Forest, Baxter has had no trouble in mastering his medical work here, and a grade of below 97 would keep him awake all night long. He is a gentleman, a brilliant student, and a judge of good—lemonade.

Member William Edgar Marshall Medical Society, Manager Medical Basketball Team '21-'22, Assistant in Bacteriology and Physiological Chemistry

EDGAR P. BAZEMORE, Eu.
 Candidate for B.A.
 LEWISTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 22; Height 5' 8"; Weight 150.

"A man without a sweetheart is like a fish without water."

No one ever accused "Peter" of being a book-worm or the most brilliant student in college. Great men are rarely guilty of that crime during their college days. Like them, "Peter" believes that everything above 70 is wasted energy, but this does not mean that he is a bonehead. Rather he just believes in devoting all surplus energy to other fields. Whether it be among the students or among the fair damsels, Peter is a regular social lion. Everybody likes him for his frank, outspoken way and his friendly good-nature. These characteristics will insure his success in his chosen field of banking—have already insured it as an assistant in one of the local banks during the past year.

ASA LAWRENCE BECK

Candidate for B.A.

ASHEVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 21; Height 5' 9½"; Weight 145.

"Tis a man's to fight, but heaven's to give success."

As green as the mountains from which he came, Beck made his initial entrance among us in 1918. A hunter by birth, he has been true to this title in searching for knowledge. He is a lover of nature, an admirer of women, and an exploiter of good books. His high moral standards and lofty ideals have won for him the admiration and esteem of all who know him. In "campus" and college politics he is excelled by many, but his class room record reveals his studious habits and literary ability. It is rumored that he makes good "grades" at Meredith also. We have confidence in him, and feel sure that success rarely attained awaits him in his calling—serving mankind.

Assistant in English, '21-'22.

DELEON EDWARD BEST

Candidate for B.A. Med.

WARSAW, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 20; Height 5' 8"; Weight 155.

"They govern most who make the least noise."

"Ponce," in his own life, proves that it is not the bookworm who is necessarily the best student. Though ranking high in his classes, he has consistently followed the policy of "Early to bed, early to rise—." Likewise, he always finds time to visit his friends and there relieve himself of some stored-up joke or story before attempting a difficult lesson. "Ponce" is quiet and unassuming in his manner, and does not believe in "tooting his own horn" except through deeds. A man of sturdy quality and eminent ability in his line, he is destined to make a splendid physician.

WILLIAM BRYAN BOOE, Phi.

Candidate for LL.B.

CANA, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 23; Height 5' 9½"; Weight 150.

"I dare do all that becomes a man; he who dares do more is none."

In Bryan we see good qualities so intermingled that an honorable and successful future for him seems assured. Profound in the law, he was licensed last August; able in debate, he represented his society last anniversary; popular on the campus, he has a host of friends. The law and senior classes have invested him with many honors in recognition of his unusual ability. Gifted when it comes to the ladies, he shines in social gatherings as well as on the campus. His versatility, having won for him many honors here, will stand him in stead in the arena of life, where only the able and worthy rise to places of lasting honor.

Anniversary Marshal, '21, Vice-President of Summer Law Class, '21; Member of Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, '21-'22; Secretary of Philanthropian Society, '21; Member of Honor Committee, '21-'22; Member of Ex-Servae Club, '19-'20-'21; Secretary of Senior Class, '21; Anniversary Debater, '21; President of Philanthropian Society, '22; Treasurer of Athletics, '21; Intercollegiate Debater, '22.

S. A. BOWDEN, JR., Phi.

Candidate for B.A.

CALYPSO, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 18; Height 5' 9½"; Weight 145.

Among the youngest of his class, Bowden nevertheless already gives promise of making good in any branch of business that he decides to enter. Arriving at Wake Forest in the fall of 1918 at the age of fifteen, "Cary," as he is called on the campus, lost no time in acquainting himself with the Wake Forest standards and spirit. These he has practiced during his four years here. On the gridiron his ability has not been definitely exhibited until this year, during which season he, as varsity end, has participated in every game, making a reputation for himself in the world of gridirondom. The Class of '22 will watch his future with interest.

Class Basketball, '20, '21, '22; Law Basketball, '21; Varsity Football, '20, '21; Member of "W" Club, '21.

EDGAR THOMAS BOYETTE, Phi.
Candidate for B.A.
PRINCETON, NORTH CAROLINA
Age 23; Height 5' 7"; Weight 130.

"The art of living is the greatest of all arts."

This youth hails from the great "state" of Johnston. He did his service in the S. A. T. C., and returned to his native heath, but the call of education lured him back again the following fall. As president of the Philomathesian Society, Ed not only proved himself an able parliamentarian but also initiated progressive reforms. He is popular and able, as his membership in many clubs will testify. Whatever Boyette attempts will be crowned with success, for his make-up is not of the ingredients which cause failure.

Candidate for LL.B.
WARSAW, NORTH CAROLINA
Age 20; Height 5' 8"; Weight 150.

*"He who loves not wine, women and song
Has no pleasure his whole life long."*

A truer friend or a better pal than Olive is seldom found. He is possessed of that rare combination—a pleasing countenance and a commanding personality—which has gained for him the respect and friendship of many students. If he had "gone in'o politics," many college honors undoubtedly would have been bestowed upon him. Always appearing neat and dresy, Olive never fails to vamp the ladies, and many a fair one has been heard to remark, "Oh, isn't he adorable!" A success in college, he will probably be a greater success in the practice of the law.

JOHN PARKS BOYLIN, Phi,
Candidate for L.L.B.

WADESBORO, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 23; Height 5' 8"; Weight 152.

"You may carve it on his tombstone, you may cut it on his card,

A young man married is a young man married."

Jack Boylin came to Wake Forest College in the fall of 1919, and immediately took an interest in athletics. During his three years here he has been a member of the football and baseball teams and the scrub basketball team. While engaging in these activities, he has not neglected his scholastic work, and consequently receives his L.L.B. degree this year along with the other members of his class.

KING DAVID BROWN, Eu,
Candidate for B.A.

PINNACLE, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 27; Height 5' 9"; Weight 150.

"Firmness is great; persistency is greater."

Behold "King David," cough-drop specialist, student extraordinaire, bullibus de Latinibus, and shark de Espanol. When not engaged in studying the Classics or stuffing the "newish" with Latin and Spanish, he may be found among the fellows, here playing a prank, there pinching another unsuspecting fellow, or making a stump speech in advocacy of a return to the Classics as a panacea for all educational ills. Yet King David is a man of resolute purpose, deeming it better to merit the epithet, "Sot in his ways," than the appellation, "Spinless." As a student he is one of the most thorough in his class, his 98's and 99's being an index of his preparation to instruct the fair youth of the land after he leaves his Alma Mater.

Intercollegiate Debate, '19-'20-'21, Vice-President Education Club, '21-'22, Assistant in Spanish, '21-'22, Assistant in Latin, '21-'22, Declamation Contest Committee, '21-'22, President Yates Bible Class, '21-'22, President Circulo Espanol, '21-'22.

CHARLES G. BUCK, Eu.

Candidate for B.A.

BALD MOUNTAIN, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 17; Height 5' 6"; Weight 113.

Arriving at Wake Forest with only fourteen years of existence to his credit, "Pee-Wee" has the record of being the youngest and finest man to enter the college and the youngest man to receive the Bachelor of Arts degree from this institution. Although young in years, "Pee-Wee" is none the less advanced in experience and ability, for he has shown himself an exceptionally good student and a likable fellow. He will return to Wake Forest for another year's work in the department of law, and will take the supreme court examination upon reaching the required age.

THAD CLARENCE BURNETTE, Eu.

Candidate for B.A.

BLACK MOUNTAIN, NORTH CAROLINA

*"She is a winsome wee thing,
She is a handsome wee thing,
She is a bonny wee thing,
This sweet wee wife o' mine."*

Thad is all over a real musician. Even his smiles are melodies to those who know him. To his college associates his charming voice and musical nature have become a part of the campus, and many is the night that he has led the campus choir and orchestra in producing those gentle and soothing melodies that only college boys picked at random can produce. During his stay here his face has been one of the most familiar and welcome ones on the campus. His jokes and radiating congeniality have been a constant source of good cheer in every corner of college activity. Since Thad has already deserted the bachelors' club for the more heavenly joys of domestic life, we wish "them" bountiful prosperity and happiness.

JOHN BETHUNE CARLYLE, Phi.
Candidate for B.A.

WAKE FOREST, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 20; Height 5' 11"; Weight 152.

"Conquering yourself is half the victory."

Overcoming the handicap of being a local boy, Jack, through his genial disposition, good nature, pleasing personality and unimpeachable character, is known and loved by the whole student body. He has mingled with the students and affiliated himself with all college activities. As a member of the basketball quint and track team he has helped Wake Forest to bring home the bacon in many contests. Jack is not only an athlete; he is a thorough and punctual student as well and ranks high in the esteem of the faculty. Whether he decides to take up medicine or some other profession, he has the goodwill of the student body.

COY C. CARPENTER, Phi.
Candidate for B.A. Med.

MORRISVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 21; Height 5' 9"; Weight 145.

*"His pills as thick as hand grenades flew,
And where they fell as certainly they slew."*

Coy, coming to us in the spring of 1919, has never entirely outgrown his appellation of "Giftie," although at times his learning entirely accords with a senior. Upon deciding on medicine as his life work, he left State College to sit at the feet of the learned professors of Wake Forest. His ways of good fellowship have endeared him to students, and his high scholarship has stood him in stead with his professors. Students paid tribute to his ability and geniality by making him manager of basketball in 1922, and the medical authorities by investing him with the college internship. Scholarly, friendly, persevering, he has attributes that work for success.

Age 22; Height 5' 10"; Weight 158.

"Go where he will, the wise man is at home."

Just because he is called "Sleepy" does not mean that this gentleman is always in a somnolent mood, for he is usually very wide-awake. "Sleepy" served two Alma Maters before he came to Wake Forest, but, having arrived, he soon distinguished himself in the literary fields of the college. As managing editor of Old Gold and Black and as a frequent contributor to the Student, both of prose and poetry, his work has been of high order. In the class room also "Sleepy" has been a fair and consistent student throughout his course, ranking high in the fields of literature and history. While not the friendliest fellow in college, "Sleepy" is important in the social life of his chums here. He will probably return next year for the study of law.

Age 28; Height 5' 6"; Weight 140.

"Give to the world the best that you have, and the best will come back to you."

Conscientious in the performance of each duty, let it be great or small, Crouch stands out as a typical "Sky." He smiles in the face of opposition, and when that opposition becomes a deadening grind in the cogs of his progress, the smile becomes a grin of determination. Such characters as his constitute the world's social Atlas, holding aloft all relationships and associations for betterment. His profession is well chosen, and as he goes out into the field of the ministry we predict for him much success.

REDMOND BLANFORD DAWES, Eu.

Candidate for B.A.

ELM CITY, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 21; Height 5' 11"; Weight 145.

"The mills of the gods grind slow, but exceedingly fine."

Dawes is one of the most dignified and intellectual personages who ever graced the historic halls of Wake Forest. Of striking appearance and bearing, he is, nevertheless, quite unassuming. He is no "glad-handing" politician, nor does he seek to ingratiate himself by "The loud laugh that bespeaks the empty mind." Yet he is one of the best liked men on the campus, and his quiet good sense and preeminent ability as a speaker have won him a long list of real honors. As a student his record is remarkably good; as a debater he is unexcelled; and as an all-around good fellow he has few superiors. He expects to return next year to study law.

*"Women's looks have been my books,

This old world would be a dull place if men of "Count" DeShazo's type were not living. His grace and charm, blended with his good nature and sportsmanship, make him one sought for in all good society. His pleasing countenance is always wreathed in smiles, and the word "worry" is not in his vocabulary. As a student he is a success in every respect, and in all college activities he is a prominent figure. For good fatherly advice all the freshmen go to "Count." Suave, pleasing, a jolly good fellow in every way, we give to the world an instrument of value—a man.

WAKE FOREST, NORTH CAROLINA

"An ever-present friend in time of need."

"Ben" is one of the most affable and pleasant men on the campus. Wherever you meet him you get a broad smile and a cheery greeting that is calculated to rescue even the most discouraged from the "Slough of Despondency" and set them back on the sunlit road to success. Friendly, reasonable and industrious, "Ben" has persistently fought a good fight, and comes out now one of the most popular members of his class—a leader among the general favorites of the campus.

Notable among the "Gifties" of 1919 was one, W. A. Ellis, who blew in on a salty breeze from the State College Naval Unit. Soon he proved that he had other distinguishing characteristics than big feet. On the basketball court and the baseball diamond he is a brilliant and dashing player, his success on the diamond being rewarded his senior year by his election to the captaincy of the baseball nine. Bill has also done well in his studies, as his membership in various clubs will testify. A friend to and of everybody, he will make good if fine qualities spell anything of success.

"Worry kills more men than bullets do. Why worry?"

"Firecracker" has tried them all, and Old Wake looks best. Spending one year each at New York University and Maryland State College before coming to Wake Forest, Feraca has been with us but one year. However, in that brief time he has caught step with the spirit of Southern boys and the friendly atmosphere of our campus life in a remarkable degree. He is emphatic in his praise of Wake Forest and the Wake Forest School of Medicine, his only expressed regret being that he cannot take his M.D. degree at this institution. A hard-working student, an unusually friendly fellow, and a booster of his college—we welcome always men of the type of "Firecracker," whether they be from the North, South, East, or West.

An excellent student, Floyd has successfully pried into the intricacies of the law, and now finds himself greatly enriched by the experiences of his college career. Quiet and unobtrusive, he, nevertheless, has made his presence felt in campus life, having engaged in activities not confined to class rooms. A few students, if they expect ever to succeed in life, have to mend noticeably the ways of their college days; not so with this man. If he will but continue in the path upon which he has trodden here, he may expect some day to see success coming down that same path to meet him.

Especially in football are we indebted to him for bringing laurels to his Alma Mater. Here, as elsewhere, he has made a record that anyone might envy. *"He preached as never sure to preach again,
And as a dying man to dying men."*

Captured in the wilds of Johnston County, this is neither Mark Antony nor Uncle Josh, but our own free-hearted, outspoken A. L. Goodrich, alias "Sky," who for four broken years has been filling our halls with voluminous oratory, our publications with literature, and our campus atmosphere with jokes and witty sayings. Although a preacher of note, "Sky" is still a live, jolly, red-blooded college man, active and commanding among his fellows. The epithets "Sissy" and "Goody-Goody" were never invented for him. Whether it be preaching, debating Baylor, "politicking," rooting for the athletic teams, or even reading a newspaper on the campus, "Sky" is a past-master. In short, he is an all-round good fellow, "Fervent in spirit."

Age 23; Height 6'; Weight 168.

"They are never alone that are accompanied with noble thoughts."

The heart is the ruler of man; if that be noble, then the man is noble. And so it is with Graham, whose nickname, being liberally and politely stated, is "Sugar Foot." He is well known among the students, has an extensive circle of friends, and is active in many phases of college life. In athletics he has figured prominently on class football, basketball and baseball teams, being captain of the senior championship team. But "S. F." is preeminently a student, his election to the presidency of the Political Science Club coming as a recognition of his enthusiasm for his major subject. He is also a polished speaker and an able writer. These characteristics undoubtedly will make him successful in his chosen profession of law.

"I would be pure, for there are those who care."

For four years Green's imaginative mind and versatile pen have been employed to the benefit of all readers of The Student and Old Gold and Black. As editor-in-chief of The Student his ability has been used in making that magazine better than it has been in years. Active and influential in all college life, but yet quiet and reserved, Green has drawn to himself many friends, as well as preserved the grave dignity becoming one who is an assistant to the dean. Talented, friendly and sincere, he is the embodiment of a cultured gentleman.

BOILING SPRINGS, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 27; Height 5' 9"; Weight 135.

*"If you get simple beauty and naught else,
You get about the best thing God invents."*

Here is an example of a man who has risen in spite of difficulties. Success is most apt to come to such a person. He is always busy, for besides doing good, conscientious work in college, he is also active in regular ministerial work outside of the institution. Greene is an influential member of the Ministerial Class, and, true to his motto, he does not believe in mere outside show. To him real work is beauty. As he leaves us to take up his work elsewhere we feel like saying, "Good luck to you, Greene, boy. We admire men of your pluck and caliber."

CLYDE P. HARRIS, Eu.

Candidate for LL.B.

LOUISBURG, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 23; Height 5' 6"; Weight 135.

"The greatest of faults is to be aware of none."

After taking his B.A. degree with the Class of 1921, Clyde decided to return to Wake Forest and take a LL.B. with the Class of 1922. The graduating class this year considers itself fortunate in claiming "Dimples" among its number. During his five years at Wake Forest, "Dimp" has been one of the men recognized as capable of carrying responsibility and willing to serve. Even during his postgraduate year he has been the successful manager of the Glee Club and Orchestra. With a commanding personality and an agreeable nature, "Dimp" is destined to make good in his life work among the "legal lights" of the state.

CHARLES OREN HAMRICK, Eu.

Candidate for B.A.

SHELBY, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 21; Height 5' 5"; Weight 138.

"Good humor is the clear blue sky of his soul."

"Puss" is short in stature but long in reason and likable qualities. Fond parents attached to his person the dignified title of Charles Oren. But it is a well-known fact that college students respect neither title nor the sacredness of a family-bestowed name; so when he came to college he was promptly dubbed "Puss." He is a student of no mean ability and a man of honest purposes and grim determination. However, he has never willingly permitted ambition to combat Cupid's darts. Always cheerful, one might thoughtlessly consider his motto to be: "Laugh and the world laughs with you." Many are his friends, who, although regretting his departure, wish him—and his wife—well in whatever profession he chooses for life's work.

NELSON NORFLEET HARTE, Eu.

Candidate for B.A.

OXFORD, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 22; Height 5' 8"; Weight 135.

"Life is just one blooming thing after another."

Judging from the manner in which this handsome young man performs upon the trap drums in glee club concerts, one would naturally suppose that he has spent all of his time and effort in order to become Prince of the Jazz; but such is not the case. It's only at odd times that Harte makes a snare drum "talk." His regular occupation since coming to college has been in mastering his work thoroughly, and high grades have resulted. With Harte, character and the sacredness of his word are above everything else. This type of man has made Wake Forest famous. Just a bit reserved, he has never become a "campus idol," but he has gained a host of friends whose friendship will endure long after his college days are over.

Age 24; Height 5' 6"; Weight 135.

*"It is the mind that makes the man,
And our vigor is in our immortal soul."*

"Os," though now from the plains of Nebraska, is a Hawkeye by birth and a Tarheel both by ancestry and training. His small stature is in no way a true index to his ability. "Valuable things are always wrapped in small bundles" is especially applicable to him. Besides being a good student, he is a clear and progressive thinker and a Christian gentleman who always greets you with a pleasing smile regardless of the weather. A good student, he has nevertheless found ample time to participate in various college activities. For both himself and his literary society he has obtained honor as a public speaker. We are sure that he will accomplish great things in the work of the Kingdom.

Candidate for LL.B.

SAINT PAULS, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 24; Height 5' 7"; Weight 145.

"Aut vincere aut mori."

The year following the war brought many seasoned war veterans to Wake Forest, and Fred was one of them. He served in seven foreign countries, and his association and experiences in the army have stood him well with the students here. Though friendly and always full of life, Fred has been no great politician in college circles; however, his amiable disposition and marked ability have won him his share of honors. A speaker of no mean ability, he has successfully represented his society. It is even rumored that many of the fair sex have fallen victims of his convincing argument. We can only prophesy for him success as he leaves us to hang out his law shingle in some hamlet or city.

Frank, from the "land of sunshine and flowers," receives his B.A. degree in three years. His calm and quiet demeanor, together with his versatility and gentlemanly conduct, have won him the esteem of the faculty as well as the goodwill and friendship of his fellow students. During Frank's brief stay at Wake Forest he has added new luster to the glow of Old Gold and Black through application to his work. We feel no hesitation in predicting that success will crown his every effort in whatever field of usefulness he may enter.

As a collegiate debater Jimmie is among the first artists of his class, and in the field of journalism he is an adept, having been for two sessions an important member of the Old Gold and Black staff. Now he is serving his fellows as manager of the baseball team. Reliable, accommodating and likable, Jimmie is the logical man to be called upon to assume the responsibility when there is a task that requires a combination of headwork and energy. Besides being an able speaker, Jimmie has a personality that will create for him a strong following and a large clientele in his chosen profession—law.

Edwin Holman is known the campus over as "Eddie Polo." He is the type of man who appears jovial and cheerful, but beneath the smiles there is a seriousness that results from some unknown and remote cause and is noticeable only to the intimate friend. He is a man of sterling qualities and fine ability, and rightly occupies a place of leadership in college life. Eddie is one of the best writers in college. His stories and poems have been frequent prize-winners in the Student, and for three sessions he has been a member of the staff of Old Gold and Black, last year as managing editor and this year as editor-in-chief. He is also a talented tenor of the college glee club and a football player who throws terror into the ranks of the opposing teams.

Not often does our Alma Mater have the privilege of sending out such a man as Joe. In him are combined and blended the Christian gentleman, the jolly sport, and the good student. In practically every phase of college life he has participated actively. He is an admirer of women as well as of books, and it has been rumored that he is taking advanced work in "Feminology" at Meredith this year. In brief, Joe is a well-rounded fellow, and we wish that among our number more of his type could be found. He leaves us to continue his work in a theological seminary.

JOHN RICHARD HOWARD, Phi.

Candidate for B.A. Med.

SAINT PAULS, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 23; Height 5' 10"; Weight 150.

"God heals, the doctor takes the fee."

By his genial nature and an unconscious portrayal of sterling qualities of character, Howard has won here a host of friends who will watch with keen interest his career as he continues his medical course and later enters upon his profession. Though he has been here but three and a half years, he has accomplished in a most creditable manner everything to which he has set his hand. That he is destined to be a successful physician is only to be expected, and that his contribution to the field of medicine will be large and important can be predicted with equal confidence.

CHARLES BARRETT HOWARD, Phi.

Candidate for B.A.

SALEMBURG, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 21; Height 5' 7"; Weight 154.

"O world, as God has made it! All is beauty; And knowing this is love, and love is duty."

We behold in Howard a man "Young in years but grey in fame." Coming to us with a brilliant record behind him, he has had no trouble in establishing a new and better one here. Skilled in all the elegant forms of speech, he is recognized as one of Wake Forest's ablest men in both literature and public speaking. Especially as an orator has he attained to heights where few can follow. Unostentatious, lovable and able, he has, without apparent effort, made a reputation in college which is worthy of anyone. Zealous and sincere in his work, he embodies a promise of future service to mankind.

VANCE CYRUS HOWELL, Eu.

Candidate for B.A.

BROOKSIDE, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 26; Height 5' 6"; Weight 140.

"To live and to die for my country."

"Nutty," as he is familiarly known on the campus, came to us in 1919 from the mountains of Watauga County. He is a rare product of western North Carolina—the only one of his kind in captivity. His excellent ability as a student enables him to graduate in three and a half years, and it is a conceded fact that he has no rivals on the campus when it comes to original wit and humor. As a pure liver, a clean thinker, and a good speaker, "Nutty" is hard to surpass. These sterling qualities have won for him a host of friends among both the faculty and the students. As he goes out from this institution we feel like saying, "Good luck to you, 'Nutty,' old boy! We have confidence in you."

J. A. HUDSON, Eu.

Candidate for B.A.

WAKE FOREST, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 27; Height 6'; Weight 185.

"If work will do it, he'll win."

Judging from his looks, one might say that Hudson is a statesman. Well, he is—a Christian statesman. His work is directed along such a channel that he is able to encourage men and women to be better citizens. As a personal friend we have always found Hudson a man with ambition, a worker directed by high ideals, a Christian guided by a good conscience. Yet he is a man not too good for fellowship, for he is a good, jovial comrade. As a minister he is already proving himself successful in nearby churches. Boldly proclaiming the Truth as it is, Hudson is constantly striving for the advancement of the Kingdom.

FRANK L. ISRAEL, Phi.

Candidate for B.A.

LUMBERTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 33; Height 5' 11"; Weight 165.

"That life is long which answers life's great end."

Israel entered Wake Forest when the members of his class had already advanced half a year toward the goal which they and he were seeking. He had been here only a little while before it was known that he came here to learn things and not simply to get a degree. He has worked hard and consistently, having shown by his diligence and earnest application to a purpose that he is a man of real character. College life apparently has had many joys for him, for wherever and whenever he is seen he is always the same cheerful Frank. As he continues in his work of serving mankind a place of large usefulness awaits him.

FRANK W. JARVIS

Candidate for B.A.

MRS HILL, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 29; Height 5' 8"; Weight 140.

"I would be humble, for I know my weakness; I would look up—and laugh—and love—and lift—"

Blowing in from the mountains of western North Carolina in 1916, Jarvis was an outstanding newish from the very first. After completing his first year's work, he soon answered his country's call, serving at home and in the trenches with the famous Wildcat Division. After winning the war and seeing France, he returned to Wake Forest in the fall of '20 for the continuation of his school work. As a student Jarvis is hardly surpassed by any of his classmates; as a fellow he is a model of congeniality, unselfishness and cleanliness of character; in society work he is likewise active and influential. His popularity among the fellows is only surpassed by his popularity among the fair maidens.

Candidate for LL.B.

FRANKLINTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 26; Height 5' 11"; Weight 160.

"Fish," the name by which this gentleman is generally known, is another of the "legal lights" of the Class of '22, having successfully ridden "Brindle Bull Ben" for the specified time in the specified way. In spite of the fact that he hails from Franklinton, "Fish" is an able speaker, a quick thinker, an active doer—essential characteristics of a first-rate barrister. Besides these attributes, "Fish" is a likable fellow, having made numerous friends here who will watch his future career with interest.

Licensed Attorney, '22.

WILLIAM OLIVE KELLEY, Phi.

Candidate for B.A.

CLAYTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 25; Height 5' 10½"; Weight 157.

"Speaking in deeds, and deedless in his tongue."

Victorious in the battles of "Mess-kit Slum" and "Coolie Run," Kelley returned to us from France in 1919 to resume his work—and "Work" has been his motto. Besides maintaining a high scholarship, "W. O." has devoted himself with marked efficiency and vigor to the literary activities of his college; and now our class is proud to recognize in him one of its hardest working and most capable editors, as well as one of Wake Forest's best trained men. In addition he, as manager of a boarding club, has succeeded in fattening seventy men at a minimum of expense. His clean manhood, unassuming ways and modest display of unusual ability are a delight to all who know him.

RALPH MARION LEE, *Eu.

Candidate for B.A.

Age 23; Height 6'; Weight 180.

"An honest man's the noblest work of God."

As an embodiment of fine ideals and genuine manhood possibly no man in college surpasses Lee. His sound ideas and sterling merit have made him a leader in college life. As president of the Y. M. C. A. and of the Euzelian Society, he has led those organizations ably and progressively. As business manager of the HOWLER he has made some innovations which have been for the good. That he is a fine student is evinced by his membership in practically every scholarship club in college. In his life's work Lee is destined to make a name that will do honor to the Class of '22.

WILLIAM CRAWFORD LYNCH

Candidate for B.A.

CAROLEEN, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 31; Height 6' 5"; Weight 165.

"Actions speak louder than words."

This jolly chap hails from the foothills of the Blue Ridge, just where the lowlands and the mountains meet. Head and shoulders he towers above the most of us in stature, and his character is just as eminent. Because of his eagerness to get out into service and his admirable ability, he has finished his course here in three years. As a diligent and faithful worker, a good student, a congenial friend, and a loyal son of his Alma Mater, his equal is seldom found. He is one of the few among us who is opposed to the present political system here; therefore he has not striven for any honors. He considers it the greatest honor to serve mankind, and, by serving mankind, to serve God.

J. CLARENCE LEDBETTER, Jr.

Candidate for B.A.

WAKE FOREST, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 35; Height 5' 11"; Weight 145.

When Clarence graduated from Mars Hill in 1912, he firmly intended to enter the field of the next year. Instead he entered the field of matrimony and spent several years in teaching on the Oklahoman prairies. Wake Forest still called, however, and in 1919 he enrolled here as a ministerial student. The energy with which he tackled the threefold task of completing his course in three years, caring for his family and serving several churches as pastor, is characteristic of him. Though these activities have prevented him from taking a prominent part in college life, he will be remembered on "Sky Hill" as a loyal friend, a cheerful, obliging neighbor, and a Christian gentleman.

WALTER JOHNSON MATTHEWS, JR.

Candidate for B.A.

Age 22; Height 5' 6"; Weight 135.

*"Let a man contend to the uttermost
For his life's set prize, be it what it will."*

Here is a young fellow who comes from a country made famous by the tons that she produces—the Lower Cape Fear, a country in which Scottish blood predominates. From this land came the late John Charles MacNeil, the greatest of North Carolina's men of letters. It is a cousin of the beloved MacNeil, and a typical son of the Scottish blood of the Lumbee River, who is concerned in this sketch. "Chubby" has proved himself an excellent student and a worthy leader in the many phases of college activities. His influence is always for the best. Now that he is leaving, we more fully realize the greatness of the Scottish blood of the Lumbee River.

Theron Burt Mauney, Eu.

Candidate for B.A.

NEW LONDON, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 23; Height 6' 1"; Weight 184.

"Of sturdy worth his deeds best show."

Versatile in his talents, steadfast in his work, and courageous in all things are characteristics which describe "Pat." He received his LL.B. degree with the Class of '21 after four years of academic and professional study. The Class of '22 is fortunate in numbering him among its candidates for the A.B. degree. Those who knew "Pat" in his undergraduate days easily recall his great capacity for work and responsibility, as his list of honors proves. This session he has devoted himself mainly to study, but he has found time to mingle with the men and add many new friends to his already long list.

WEAVERVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 24; Height 5' 10"; Weight 185.

*"Let me live by the side of the road
And be a friend to man."*

Inspired to greater efforts by the rippling waters of the French Broad in "The Land of the Sky," "Mac" has beaten the rest of the class by dropping out a year and then getting his degree with us just as if nothing had happened. This is but one expression of his diligence and indomitable courage. "Mac's" manly character, friendly ways and contagious laughter have won for him the respect and confidence of all the fellows who know him. His daily life reveals not only an ability to do things, but also a genuine love for humanity. Our wish is that fortune may serve "Mac" as kindly as he serves his fellowman.

CHARLES B. McLEAN, Phi.

Candidate for LL.B.

WILSON, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 21; Height 5' 9"; Weight 150.

"To have friends a man must prove himself friendly."

Charlie McLean is one of those good-natured, congenial fellows who are the same one day as the next. Moreover, he is fully capable of delivering the goods whenever called upon. During his stay on the "Hill," Mac has taken an active part in college activities and contributed his part to the welfare of the student body. As business manager of Old Gold and Black, Charlie made that publication a financial success for the first time in its history and gave evidence of an ability that is due to bring him success in the practice of law, which profession he is preparing to enter. Furthermore, to "Mac" goes the honor of being a charter member of the "Ananias Club," and were not Ed Holman at Wake Forest, he would be the most talented performer of that art in college.

Candidate for LL.B.

Age 20; Height 5' 10"; Weight 170.

"Life is what you make it."

The Class of '22 was fortunate in securing "Mac" as one of its members. Spending one year at the University of North Carolina, he finally yielded to his desire to learn some law and therefore came to Wake Forest in the fall of 1920. Since his arrival here he has acquitted himself admirably in preparing for his chosen life's work and has become one of the well-informed legalites of the class. Not only in the class room is "Mac" known, but, since his affiliation with Wake Forest, he has made many friends who recognize his ability and predict for him unlimited success.

Licensed Attorney, '22.

GEORGE A. MEARS

Candidate for B.A. Med.

ASHEVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 23; Height 5' 9½"; Weight 165.

"A perfect man to his finger-tips."

George has been with us for but two years, and during his brief stay he has confined himself almost exclusively to work along lines of his chosen profession—medicine. It is the regret of his friends that his medical work has kept him from representing Old Gold and Black on the gridiron and basketball court. George comes to us from the "Land of the Sky," and his character, like the mountains of his native heath, is staunch and true. We predict for him every success.

Captain Medical Basketball Team, Assistant in Anatomy, '21-'22.

LAWRENCE CARLETON MEDLOCK, Phi.

Candidate for B.A.

HONEA PATH, SOUTH CAROLINA

Age 22; Height 5' 6½"; Weight 138.

"'Tis not what man does that exalts him, but what man would do."

Although Medlock's college career has been somewhat of a checkerboard nature, he has proved himself, as a man and a student, to be of exceptional qualities. He came to Wake Forest from Elon College as a sophomore, went to Furman University for his junior work, and returned to us this year for his degree. During his two years here Medlock's work in the class room has been of that high quality which characterizes him as a man, on or off the campus. Straightforward, true and prepossessing, he leaves us to explore yet another educational institution—Vanderbilt—where he expects either to specialize in chemistry or to study medicine.

HUGH EDNIE MONTEITH, Eu.

Candidate for B.A.

SYLVIA, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 23; Height 5' 8"; Weight 130.

"Honesty is the secret of success."

This youth, issuing from the mountains of Jackson County, came to Wake Forest filled with ambition and ideals, and during his four years here he has lived up to them. In many college activities "Scroutz" has shown himself worthy and capable. As an orator and debater he has established himself as among the best; in college pothies he is an adept; and out in the world, with a larger field for his ability, we expect him, as a lawyer, to be holding positions of trust and honor. His indomitable pursuance of an objective will bring him success in whatever enterprise he undertakes.

Age 23; Height 6'; Weight 169.

"The cheerful grin will let you in where the knocker is never known."

Here is a man who bids fair to make success in the realm of law. Zeb is a good speaker and a clear thinker. Whether it be debating in the society hall or arguing a case in moot court, he always carries his point. A good student and a likable fellow, he has a host of friends in the student body. As manager of the Student he has put out a magazine which does credit to the college. Zeb is a man who sticks to a job until it is finished, once he has begun it. We predict for him success in all walks of life.

THOMAS JULIAN MOSS, Eu.

Candidate for B.A.

FOREST CITY, NORTH CAROLINA

"Character is the diamond that scratches every stone."

Tom Moss is a man of great physical dimensions, and his heart is in keeping with his size. Not a man in his class possesses a better disposition and a more friendly nature. The midgets who often tantalize him with their youthful pranks only provoke a friendly smile. Tom has taken a prominent and active part in the daily life of the college, having served as vice-president of his class, as president of the Athletic Association, and as a member of the Athletic Council. But his greatest success has been upon the gridiron, where he has performed creditably and consistently for three years, one year having been chosen All-State tackle. We hope to meet him often in the future.

BURGIN LEE MULLINAX, Eu.

ASHEVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 25; Height 5' 11"; Weight 147.

"His preaching much, but more his practice brought."

Mullinax hails from that section of North Carolina to which the bard referred when he sang, "Where the weak grow strong and the strong grow great." He first peeped at day in Cleveland County, where the doctrines of the Baptist Church are contradicted by no man, and where everyone sings in the choir on Sunday. Mullinax came to college, and with him came the religious and choral training of early youth. This training has not departed from him, for during his four years at Wake Forest he has been prominent in the many phases of religious activity in the college. Likewise, he has toured extensively with the Glee Club, there being scarcely a city or hamlet in North Carolina in which he has not delighted an audience with his rich tenor voice.

Glee Club, '20-'21-'22, Captain Ministerial Baseball Team, '21, Y. M. C. A. Chorus, '21-'22, Member Education Club, '21-'22.

WILLIAM MOORE NICHOLSON, JR., Eu.
Candidate for LL.B.

LATHIMORE, NORTH CAROLINA

*"A bachelor's life in a cozy flat;
A good income and a Stutz bearcat."*

"Nick" hails from the foothills of western North Carolina. His restless nature led him to several different schools, then on a trip of adventure to the frozen North. However, after trying them all, old Wake Forest looked best, and he therefore decided to get his training within her hallowed walls. His career among us has been one of active service in all phases of college life. Class room records, combined with an unusual ability in debating and oratory, bear testimony to his zealous work. His congenial ways and ready wit have made for him a multitude of friends, and no man on the campus is better known. Whether cutting capers as cheer leader or presiding with dignity over the Law Class, he is always there with the goods.

Honor Committee, '20-'21; Short Basketball Team, '20-'21; Society Day Orator, '21-'22; Cheer Leader, '21-'22; Glee Club, '21-'22; President Law Class, '21-'22; Member "W" Club, '21-'22; Licensed Attorney, '22.

JOHN RAYMOND NELSON, Phi.
Candidate for B.A.

HENDERSON, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 22; Height 5' 8"; Weight 136.

*"Man is not as God,
But then most Godlike, being most a man."*

Nelson entered college when Uncle Sam had charge of affairs and was doing things in a big way. He caught the spirit, or perhaps had it already, and has set the pace for performing real work ever since. Every phase of campus life has a deep interest for him; and as a man and a student he is second to none. His ability, his high sense of honor, and his sterling qualities in general have won for him the esteem of both faculty and students. As he pursues his onward way, we confidently expect for him much success; for it is to such as he that life owes the best.

FRED MARVIN PEARCE, Phi.

Candidate for LL.B.

ZEBULON, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 27; Height 6' 1"; Weight 200.
"I dare do all that becomes a man."

Besides being one of the largest men in the Class of '22, "Brute" Pearce is without a doubt one of its biggest-hearted and best-natured members—a prince of good fellows and a perpetual spring of optimism and good humor. He came to Wake Forest in the fall of '19, after serving in France throughout the war, and early became one of the best known fellows in college. On the grid-iron he has proved himself a valuable football player, holding down a varsity tackle position for three seasons and being mentioned for All-State on one occasion. Moreover, he is a law student of no mean ability, and the prospects for his success in this field of activity are as bright as his clean character and sunny disposition.

Varsity Football, '19-'20-'21, Class Baseball, '20-'21, Licensed Attorney, '22.

CHARLES HARLAN PINNER, Phi.

Candidate for B.A.

HENDERSONVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 25; Height 5' 5 1/2"; Weight 130.

"Example is always more efficacious than precept."

Besides routing the German army at the "front," Pinner studied for some time at the University of Montpellier in France. Although offered a substantial scholarship to remain there, he preferred to return to "God's Country" and Wake Forest—and Meredith. While here Pinner has made a brilliant record. Being clean and pure himself, he has been an active supporter of all that is highest and best in college life. In addition to averaging 94 on all his work, he has made an excellent record as a track man, and has been an ardent supporter of all forms of athletics. The faculty gave evidence of their faith in his ability by appointing him assistant in English.

Track Team, '20-'21-'22, Class Basketball and Baseball, Assistant in English; Member Honor Committee; Member Mars Hill Club, A. E. F. Club, Education Club, Philosophy Club, '21-'22.

CHARLES GLENN POOLE, Phi.

Candidate for B.A. Med.

CLAYTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 24; Height 5' 10"; Weight 160.

Glenn, known to his intimate friends as "Teeters," in 1916 followed the path of knowledge to Wake Forest. The next year found him responding to a higher call, and after spending some months in naval aviation he returned to us in 1919, rich in experience. It was then that we of '22 came to know him. His friendly and manly bearing has endeared him to his associates. Although Glenn always has held high cards with the ladies, it has not affected the quality of his work, and he will be a valuable man to the medical profession. No higher tribute to his popularity and ability could be paid than the act of the medical students in making him president of their class.

President Medical Class, '22; Class Football, '17-'18; Edgar Marshall Medical Society, '20-'21-'22.

RAYMOND LESTER POPLIN, Eu.

Candidate for B.A.

NORWOOD, NORTH CAROLINA

"What good deed may I do for thee, O world?"

Poplin is not quite a yard wide, nor is he guaranteed not to run. However, he is none the less popular among his comrades on account of this, possessing as he does the happy faculty of making friends easily and quickly. With a pronounced dislike for politics, he has steadily refused to play the role of a politician. Strictly unassuming and positively averse to publicity, he is nevertheless wide-awake and ardent in the support of every helpful phase of college life. When duty calls, he answers. Though not a "bookworm," Poplin ranked exceptionally high in Math. II, and has shown himself to be a good all-round student. We confidently expect to hear worthy things of him.

MANLY WHITFIELD RANKIN, Phi.

WILLISTON, SOUTH CAROLINA

Age 24; Height 5' 9"; Weight 142.

*"He who ceases to love is dead already,
So take my advice and love forever."*

Some men prefer to show devotion to their college in one way, some in another. "Toney" is full of enthusiasm and this finds expression whenever there is a ball game or anything else that needs the support of the students. Not only is "Toney" present when "pep" is needed, but he feels also that one's greatest devotion to an institution can be shown by faithful and honest work as a student. Consequently his work has been well done at all times. On account of the war, and other reasons, Rankin's college career has been rather checkered. Now that he is receiving his diploma with the Class of '22, the best wishes of the students follow him as he leaves for China to begin his life's big work.

Special Gymnasium Team '19-'20, Leader Volunteer Band, '21-'22

H. T. RAY, Phi.

Candidate for B.A.

ASHEVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 22; Height 5' 11"; Weight 159.

*"All great men are dying;
I don't feel very well myself."*

Joining the Class of '22 in its junior year, Ray has never fully caught the true Wake Forest spirit. However, he has succeeded in winning a high place in college activities. As a keen and discriminating student he has stood high with his professors. His scholarship has been rewarded by his election to the presidency of the Education Club and to membership in the Political Science Club. In society work also he has, from the beginning, won the respect of his opponents for his clear and logical debating. Ray leaves here to pursue his studies at some higher institution of learning.

EUGENE NEESE RIDDLE, Phi.

Candidate for B.A.

BURLINGTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 26; Height 5' 11"; Weight 170.

"He will sing the savageness out of a bear."

Did you ask if the man whose picture you see is Mr. Riddle? Well, no, not at all; just "Doc." "Doc" has at his command an abundant supply of ready wit which easily wins for him a place in the hearts of those whom he meets. If one happens to be invulnerable to his wit, he then sings his way into his—or, maybe, her—friendship. In fact, he is one of the most likable fellows on all the campus, and is guaranteed to cure any case of "grouch" or "blues" within ten minutes. Riddle suffered a period of interruption in his college career due to the war; yet he came back and is now completing a man's work in a man's way. We predict for him a prosperous future as a professor.

EUGENE LESLIE ROBERTS, Phi.

Candidate for B.A.

DUDLEY, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 27; Height 5' 8½"; Weight 165.

*"Because right is right, to follow right
Were wisdom in the scorn of consequence."*

To Gene the sound of a dinner bell is a distinct summons which cannot be ignored. In a way just as characteristic he recognizes and answers numerous calls for service. Following such a policy at Wake Forest has made him one of the most useful men of his student generation, and at the same time he has made an enviable scholastic record. Firm and fearless in his convictions, he may be relied upon to do his utmost to accomplish any duty, however small or great. His numerous friends will rightly expect great things of him as he transfers his efforts to a larger field of service.

ALEXANDER PAUL ROGERS, Phi.

Candidate for B.A.

WACENER, SOUTH CAROLINA

Age 22; Height 5' 1"; Weight 135.

"No man is happy who does not think himself so."

"Shorty," as he is known to all of us, has multitudinous friends as a result of his amiable ways and sterling character. He always has a cheerful smile and friendly word for everyone. Stocky and agile, he ranked high as a soldier in the S. A. T. C., and has proven a valuable member of the special gymnastium team. Likewise he has made high grades in his studies throughout his course. A senator this year, it is nevertheless the consensus of opinion, even among the sophs, that at least "Shorty" is all right. In life this unobtrusive youth will win a high place, for men delight to honor a person of his genuine merit.

DONNIE MARTIN ROYAL, Phi.

Candidate for B.A.

SALEMBURG, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 19; Weight 5' 8"; Weight 140.

"Practice makes perfect."

It is regrettable that so few people adopt mottoes indicative of their lives; but this is not true with Donnie. His whole college course has been marked by sincere, earnest, conscientious work, which brings success always. Little time has he spent in seeking fleeting college honors. He has a purpose and he puts his "all" in the achievement of that purpose. Not only a good student, Donnie possesses those qualities which mark him as a fellow you want to know, to really be acquainted with. Taking an active interest in college sports and all other college activities, he could, without error, be placed in that not overcrowded group of "all-round students."

HILTON MCKEY SHUFORD

Candidate for B.A. Med.

HICKORY, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 25; Height 5' 8½"; Weight 150.

*"I dare do all that may become a man;
Who dares more is none."*

"Hilt" spent three long years at Carolina before discovering his sad mistake. Like the good brother, however, upon discovering his error he was quick to repent and turn to the right, enrolling under the Old Gold and Black standard two years ago. Being scientifically inclined, "Hilt" has chosen medicine as his life's profession. By his earnest endeavors, unselfish spirit and tenacious purpose he has proved himself worthy of this high and noble calling. It is safe to predict for him a brilliant career in his chosen field.

JOHN WILLIAM STRAUGHAN, Phi.

Candidate for B.A. Med.

SILER CITY, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 23; Height 5' 9"; Weight 135.

"There are worse occupations in this world than feeling a woman's pulse."

Witty, congenial, accommodating and dependable, there has never been a better natured or better liked man in college than "Lizzie" Straughan. Rather slow of speech, he never fails to get a dry, witty remark in at just the right place. Where he obtained his nickname, few seem to know, but anyway "Lizzie" is a permanent part of J. W. Straughan. However, don't think that "Lizzie" is a joke, for throughout his course he has been a fair and consistent student in every department. Loving his fellowman and possessing the art of making friends, "Lizzie" will undoubtedly make a success in the medical world, after getting his M.D. from some medical university.

CECIL N. STROUD, Phi.

Candidate for LL.B.

KINSTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 22; Height 5' 8"; Weight 212.

"There is great ability in knowing how to conceal one's ability."

"Fats" is a man with a sunny smile, a genial disposition, and a sense of clean sportsmanship. He adds weight to any position, both mentally and physically. For four years he has been among us, and during that time his activities have been varied and his circle of friends has become very wide. In his junior year he began to study law, achieving his "dip" in only two years. He is more fortunate than most men of his profession, in that his law course is supplemented by two years of literary work. In his departure from us, Wake Forest loses a studious worker and one of her most loyal sons.

JAMES LOYD TAYLOR, JR.

Candidate for LL.B.

RUTHERFORDTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 21; Height 5' 11"; Weight 180.

"Noble thoughts and a kind heart are more to be desired than gold."

Besides being unselfish and friendly, "Red Devil" has a mighty cheerful disposition, including a grin that would make the girls leave home. A mountaineer by birth, "Red Devil's" greatest achievement has been upon the gridiron. For the past three years he has been a member of the varsity squad, playing center every game of the 1921 season with credit to Old Gold and Black. One outstanding characteristic of "Devil" is his voluminous and vociferous voice, he believing in the theory that if you want your horn "tooted" you will have to toot it yourself. Whether on the campus or in a football game, if he cares to be heard on any subject he has only to open his mouth and all other voices are drowned.

ERASMUS HERVEY EVANS TAYLOR

Candidate for B.A. Med.

MORGANTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 25; Height 5' 9"; Weight 150.

"Be what you seem to be."

"Ras," as he is universally known, when ready to take up his life's work turned his eyes toward the science of medicine and his footsteps toward Wake Forest. Although he has been with us but two years and has necessarily confined himself closely to his work, yet he has found time to mingle with the boys and "crack" some jokes. His scholarly ability, coupled with an unusual amount of optimism, typical of a thoroughbred Carolinian, has made his sojourn here a very successful one from many viewpoints. As an M.D. we are sure that he will be a distinct addition to the profession and to the civic life of his community.

CLIVE ALLEN THOMPSON

Candidate for B.A. Med.

SPARTA, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 22; Height 5' 8"; Weight 140.

"He who strives must win."

Although "Tommy" spent two years at Davidson before coming to Wake Forest, he has atoned for the error by his two years of influential life on our campus as a medical student and a genuine gentleman. Quiet, studious and likable, he has always attended to no one's business but his own, but when called upon to perform any task he has been right there with the goods. Though a man first, Tommy is no less a student, managing to squeeze through with A's and B's, which he has been collecting for souvenirs. As he leaves us to continue his course in some Northern university, we predict for him a seat on the apex of modern medicine and surgery.

President of William Edgar Marshall Medical Society; Assistant in Physiology and Pharmacology.

NEHEMIAH J. TODD, Phi.

Candidate for B.A.

AULANDER, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 34; Height 5' 8"; Weight 180.

"To deserve the end is to tolerate the means."

With this fundamental idea always on his mind, Todd entered college under circumstances very different from his classmates. It was after he became a man with a family that he heard the call to the ministry. Finding that education was necessary to pursue the Master's work successfully, he set out with determination to accomplish that necessity. The journey has been hard, and many comrades far less handicapped have fallen. But by ever following his motto, the "Elder" is finishing this year the first long lap of his journey. He leaves us with the high endorsement of his Alma Mater.

WILLIAM TITUS WARD, Phi.

Candidate for B.A. Med.

RYLAND, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 25; Height 5' 11 $\frac{1}{2}$ "; Weight 165.

"Calm, whatsoever storm may shake the world."

The man whose picture you see here is a diligent and hard-working medical student. His close application to studies, though yielding him a place very near the top in his classes, has not prevented him from taking part in other activities. Many friends on the campus see in Ward the making of a real man, and recognize that friendship with one so jolly and thoughtful is indeed worth cultivating. Possessing a rare devotion to his task and a real determination to win, he will be soon, we predict, a learned physician and a successful practitioner, consecrated to the service of humanity.

CARROLL WAYLAND WEATHERS, Eu.

Candidate for B.A.

RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 20; Height 6'; Weight 150.

"Honor is purchased by the deeds we do."

"Birdie" Weathers is verily a prince among men—a man of noble character in whose life principle governs and guides. His word is his bond and he may be trusted with any responsibility. Besides being a diligent student, he possesses ability in the fields of journalism and business. As editor-in-chief of Old Gold and Black during his junior year he brought distinction upon himself and success to the paper. Moreover, for two years he has been the successful correspondent for the daily press of the state. His business and managerial ability was displayed last fall through his very successful management of football. This unusual ability, coupled with his pleasing personality, assures "Birdie" of a successful career.

*"Ship me somewhere east of Suez,
Where the best is like the worst;
And there ain't no Ten Commandments,
And a man can raise a thirst."*

Pete has only two real regrets in his life—one is that he had to come away from France while there were still a few quarts of champagne and cognac left; the other is that he once heard of a fight and wasn't present in time to be in it. He has demonstrated that a man can play football and still make medical class records in the nineties; and when Pe'e plays football everybody knows it isn't ping-pong, too. He came to America with Henry Hudson, they say, and settled in New Jersey. Hooray for the Dutch!

WILLIAM NORMAN WILLIAMS

Candidate for B.A. Med.

PINE BLUFF, ARKANSAS

Age 24; Height 5' 8"; Weight 150.

"Every man is the architect of his own fortune."

Though he may have left Arkansas on a freight, "Ark" has certainly not been riding a slow train through college. Cheerful, friendly, rather easy-going, and consistent in his work, he is the type of man whom we like to know. "Ark" arrived at Wake Forest with the Class of '21, but due to a year spent in the U. S. army, during which time he rose to the rank of lieutenant, he is taking his degree with the Class of '22. During "Ark's" career at Wake Forest he has made many friends, who detect in him the makings of a successful physician. From Wake Forest "Ark" will go to Tulane University to complete his medical course, after which he plans to make Arkansas the healthiest state in the Union.

HERBERT TAYLOR WILLIAMS, JR., Eu.

Candidate for B.A.

CHASE CITY, VIRGINIA

Age 24; Height 6'; Weight 150.

In spite of the fact that he hails from Virginia, we do not harbor any grudge against lanky "Slim." He has a voice as mellow as an over-ripe pear, with which he can hypnotize friend and foe alike, and it has been rumored that the girls fall for it equally as well. Like a certain brand of cigars, "Slim" is distinctly individual, but none the less friendly and popular. He is at ease in any class of people, being best pleased when he is smoking his "Bull Durham" and arguing—it doesn't matter on what subject. This characteristic, together with his three years' experience in the army, one year of which was spent in France, will be an asset to him in his profession of law.

E. T. WILLIAMS, Eu.

LUMBERTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 21; Height 5' 9"; Weight 140.

"Plain without pomp, rich without show."

Though Williams has been with us but three years, his beaming good nature has made him a general favorite. Setting for himself his own ideal, he has quietly pursued it without scorn or fear of the opinion of others. Early in life he learned the art of being content, and few of his class have completed their college career with as little worry. Though generally immune to Dr. Gulley's attacks on Law I, Cupid, they tell us, has found the vital spot. With "her" and his LL.B. degree, we predict a great future for this youthful son of Old Gold and Black.

JEFFERSON L. FOUNTAIN, Phi.

RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA

Age 27; Height 6'; Weight 155.

"Unto thine ownself be true."

Trying both Davidson and Georgetown before he came to Wake Forest, Jeff never really settled down until he joined our class in the fall of 1920. His aim since coming here has been to learn all that Dr. Gulley knows about law—how impossible! Yet, by his oative aptitude for learning and his consisteat work, he has succeeded in getting a strong hold on "Bridle-Bull Ben" during his two years here. In fact, the Supreme Court thought he knew enough law even last summer to begin practice; accordingly it presented to him a perfectly good license to practice law anywhere in this great commonwealth. Jeff's personality and manly bearing, combined with his native ability, recommend him to the public.

Licensed Attorney, '21.

CLASS HISTORY

Of the many aggregations of audacious youth who have severed the home ties and hied over the hill and to the campus, probably none ever entered this "finishing room of knowledge" with a more serious handicap than did the Senior Class of '22.

It all started back in the days of '18 when wars and rumors of wars were the chief topic of conversation at every gathering, regardless of whether it were a congressional committee meeting or the tri-daily assemblage of the village gabs in every tall-timber town throughout our broad land. Everywhere was the rustle and bustle brought about by the great conflict over the seas. Excitement, restlessness and a fathomless undercurrent of anxious expectancy held the American people in a relentless grip. Educational systems were distorted, and for a time it seemed that the colleges would be abandoned until the war should cease.

Then the government hit upon the plan of transforming the colleges and universities of the country into military training schools. Wake Forest fell in line with the proposition, and soon there marched beneath her age-honored oaks columns of buff-clad youth who were enthusiastic over the new adventure but woefully lacking in worldly experience and a knowledge of the standard of living brought about by the preparations for war.

The military regime placed a ban on all forms of college spirit or activity, and the opening of the spring found the members of the Freshman Class as ignorant of college life as the high-school graduate.

However, as the "tragic memories of war" and the signs of the "Battle of Wake Forest" were gradually erased from the campus, the even tenor of college life was begun anew. Convenient magnolia trees again sheltered lounging participants at the "bull sessions"; "willie boys" with collegiate clothes bedecked themselves in their gayest feathers and strutted the campus in all of their former glory; and the lure of the apothecary shop, with its attending evils of rare coca-cola and the scraping sounds of worn-out victrolas, again attracted the college gentry. To cap the climax of peace and even tenor, "harmony quartets" again sprang into discord, and no moonlight night was safe from desecration and no song was above maltreatment.

The Freshman Class of '18 elected J. L. Memory to the position of "campus goat." As president of the class he bore the brunt of customary ridicule with a graciousness that was above reproach. As testimony of the good behavior of the freshmen of that year, only fourteen out of a class of more than a hundred received any mark of sophomore jurisdiction.

Time is a great wonder-worker, and a lot can happen in four years. This Senior Class has proved the evolutionary theory that any state of supremacy owes its origin to an inferior existence. From a confused, motley array of youth whose individuality was lost in the great cog-wheel of militarism, there has evolved an organized group which reflects credit on this harbor wherein human crafts are protected from the storms of ignorance and delusion, and are trimmed and righted to voyage forth upon the vast sea of existence.

It is an unwritten law that all historians must toot the horn loudly and play a tune of praise and glorification unto the class of which he is a member. I shall not break custom. I shall toot and toot loudly, and the facts to be presented in the offering will show that the tooting is not without cause.

Now let us set forth and review the life of this Class of 1922. No doubt it is due to the largeness of the class that we find so great a diversification of talent and directed energy, and ultimately the leadership in practically all college activities resting upon its members. Last year Wake Forest defeated the redoubtable Davidson in debate, and it was members of the Class of '22 who did it. In the overwhelming victory over Mercer we had a half share. In our time the custom of holding intercollegiate debates before delegates to the Southern Baptist Convention has been established, and in these we have seen Colgate defeated and Baylor tied; this year we have four veterans to offer for the fray with Stetson. Last October Wake Forest defeated the hitherto unbeatable Davidson team, and incidentally the victory was largely due to the work of a captain and two other backs who are classmen of '22. In the world of literature and writing we have not lagged behind. The HOWLER of '22, which is beyond question the best and most elaborate that has ever been produced, is due to an editor-in-chief and a business manager who graduate this year. The Student, which is an established magazine in the homes of the majority of alumni, is the best that it has ever been; members of this year's class are again responsible. The staff of Old Gold and Black, which has been formally recognized as the leading publication in the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association, is composed entirely of seniors. Other honors too numerous to mention have been taken by Wake Forest through the energy and loyalty of the men who are now leaving. Thus, we can see that the tooting of the horn of praise and glorification unto the class is justified.

During the next few days these men, these members of the Class of 1922, will silently pitch their tents and steal away. Into the broad world they will go where football and the ringing of the class bell are not a part. The cap and the gown will give place to the conventional dress of the world of affairs, and senior dignity and prestige will be lost in the great whirl of humanity's indifference.

Into the world we take the teachings and the training that Alma Mater has bestowed upon us. But we go with the consciousness that we have given in return for values received; thus our going is made easier. In order that our memory may live through the years that are to be, we have erected on Gore Athletic Field a memorial which will withstand even time and the transitory memory of man. And in its substantiality is a sign and a symbol of the never-ending loyalty and devotion of the class of '22 for Alma Mater.

CLASS HONORS

The Senior Vote

HE Senior Class officers, having learned through length of years and experience that cigars should not be employed in political tactics until the sought-for place is secure, through their own desires and those of the class, gave a smoker early in the fall. Be it said for the reputation and integrity of these men that "Indians," "Cincos" and "El Rees-Sos" were distinctively, nay, emphatically boycotted. The aroma of mild "Meditations" alone is fitting for the cultivated taste of seniors. Dr. C. C. Pearson's room, although to many a nightmare to pleasant sleep, was now to be the harbor of good fellowship, a place of enjoyment. As the smoke of multitudinous cigars ascended in spirals to the ceiling, R. S. Averitt, president of the class, broke gently to the complacent members a serious phase of the meeting. This was no other than the "senior vote," which distributes the much-coveted, the much-sought-for honors. Realizing that these honors would be monumental, the class assumed an air of gravity and responsibility and took up the task.

Although many of superlative form and grace are members of the class, J. "Lizzy" Straughan was without dissent acclaimed the Apollo Belvedere of them all. It is true that a goodly number have an affinity for that creation the gods called woman, but the discerning eye of the class was able to detect a few whom phenologists term misogynists, in vulgar terms, "Woman-Haters." Chief of these were A. L. Goodrich and T. "Stink-foot" Graham, Graham being elected by a close vote. Who is the Biggest Sport in the class? An acclaiming voice said L. C. McCurry! It also said that N. J. Todd is a Wanton Spendthrift, due to wine, women and song. After a very close vote for the Most Studious man, W. "Sleepy" Cash was declared elected. Fresh as the Vale of Tempe, endowed with the qualities often attributed to Durham, S. A. Bowden was declared to be the Best Orator. Sad to relate, but justice does not discriminate, E. L. Roberts was found to be the Biggest Liar. Sturdy warriors of the gridiron, speedy athletes of the diamond, took back seats when husky C. G. Buck was nominated for the Best Athlete. The Best Dresser was incarnated in "Tony" Rankin, while "Fish" Kearney walked away with the honor of being the Most Popular.

Here the class paused—confronted with the task of electing the Best Politician. Many were known for their scheming, wire-pulling and cigar-dispensing records, but among these the name of Hugh "Scronch" Monteith stood nonparcil. Solemnity prevailed while ballots were being counted; their results showed "Eddie Polo" Holman to be the Most Religious man in college. The midget, T. J. Moss, was declared the Most Feminine in the class. No one was desirous of being acclaimed the Ugliest Man, but "Count" DeShazo could not avoid the honor which was so rightly his. A. L. Goodrich was elected the Biggest Haysced, being a constant reminder of that little ballad, "Down on the Farm." Tom "Washington Erudition" Allen surpassed the well-dressed, the handsome, the gay and the debonair and secured the coveted place as Ladies' Man. None could fill quite so well the place of Train Dispatcher as "Bill" Nicholson. "Birdie" Weathers, with a big wad of "Mule" jammed in his right jaw, spat on the floor and defied all candidates for the Biggest Tobacco Chewer. His brave and determined action won for him the place. "Sky" Lynch, having missed going to the movies only once in his long career, was given the place as Movie Fiend. Scientific and practical methods were used to determine the Biggest-Footed man in the class. Actual measurements showed that "Skeeter" Astron Ellis had a foot seven inches longer than his nearest rival. Ledbetter, although having a better "two-thirds," was chosen Biggest Lamp from the peculiar and alluring way in which he can work his eyes. It's no sin to be small, consequently C. N. ("Skinny") Stroud felt highly honored when the class unanimously elected him Mascot. C. ("Society Fee") McLean was elected Senator, while "Brutus" Pearce, from his connection with the Hacksaw-Harmony Orchestra, was chosen as the Best Musician. His cheeks inflated with hot air, "Red Devil" Taylor modestly accepted the place as Biggest Bull-Shooter.

We shall begin a new paragraph here, for the following degraded officers should be isolated from our otherwise honorable enumeration. Israel (F. L.), who in daylight wears a serene and dignified mien, was found to be the most habitual devotee by night of "Seven Come Eleven." A shock was occasioned when upon reliable testimony H. T. Ray was found to be a confirmed Hobo. He therefore was elected over several other suspicious characters. Oh, hypocrisy! How we mortals are deceived! Who would have thought that Rev. C. B. Howard, as he rides in his Ford ostensibly to his parishes, is engaged in the nefarious practice of "bootlegging!" Being the only man known to be so engaged he was elected the Biggest Bootlegger. C. Sylvester Green is a busy man from his own accounts—but not at study; scores have been innocent victims of his sharp card practices here, and therefore he was named the Biggest Poker Player.

A pall fell over the crowd; it had done its work regardless of everything but justice. As the last cigar ember perished with a sizzling sound, each went his respective way, some honored, some condemned, but none entirely neglected.

SECRETARY.

CLASS PROPHECY

Senior Class Prophecy

From the time when the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, class prophets have depended for their prophetic utterances upon being transported to future days by some oriental seer, having a mysterious dream, quaffing at the shrine of Bacchus, or using some other veiled means of lying.

Being a "sky," I am now and probably always will be poor; hence a trip to India and a trance under the spell of an East Indian mystic is forever beyond my expectations. The second method is likewise impossible, for, having spent a good portion of my youth and young manhood in dreaming of graduating at Wake Forest College, my supply of dreams is exhausted. Again, the operation of the Volstead act prevents even a "sky" from having any communication whatever with Bacchus, or from participating in any Dionysian festivals. Lastly, I have no desire to lie, when it is not necessary; hence this prophecy is going to be exactly what it ought to be, a prophecy.

Having known the present seniors sufficiently long to like them, even though I know a lot that I can't tell, and having studied carefully their past lives, haunts and love affairs, I am fully justified in prophesying their futures by their pasts. It is only reasonable to suppose that they will in most cases do some of the things which their habits now indicate, for an age-old maxim is, "As the twig is bent so will the tree grow."

E. T. Boyette with his natural cheerful disposition, love of hard work, and capacity as a presiding officer, a quality which he acquired while having the PREcedings of the Phi Society read, will succeed B. W. DeShazo as the principal of Dell High School and later will be president of the State Teachers' Assembly, where again he will have the pleasure of ordering the PREcedings of the previous meeting read and approved. Among the teachers under Prof. Boyette at the Dell School will be M. W. Rankin, Latin; R. L. Poplin, mathematics; L. C. Medlock, science, and H. E. Monteith, politics.

Having had considerable experience with both lines while in college, Tom Allen and Sleepy Cash will become head demonstrators for the Climax Chewing Tobacco Company, of which W. B. Booe will be president and J. F. Jordan, legal advisor. As opportunity presents itself, Tom will referee important basketball games (between girl quintets.)

It is plainly seen that one "Bill Nicholson" has missed his calling and will soon desert what he thinks is his proper profession—law. A few years hence will find him as Charlie Chaplin, the second; while the original Charlie will act as his understudy. His assistant will be W. F. Hester.

Z. V. Morgan will finally succeed in securing his law license and, after settling in the thriving town of Youngsville, and starving for three years, will be appointed by some kind-hearted judge as the receiver of the Brown Furniture Company. When he settles this affair his business abilities will be so plain to all concerned that, from that time, he will be kept busy settling estates, and in due season will become rich.

Dr. P. D. Westerhoff will spend all his spare time working on a formula for bald heads, which he will finally discover. But alas! it will be too late for his own use. However, it will make him rich and he will then marry a certain sponsor, positively assured that none of his sons will be bald like dad. After marriage, he and Mrs. Westerhoff will take a trip to Berlin, as he will then be the official trainer of the All-American football team. As assistants he will have F. A. Armstrong, Jack Boylin and F. M. Pearce. Due to the natural ability shown at Wake Forest, "Birdie" Weathers will be the unanimous selection as the manager of this team.

N. N. Harte, with his natural ability as a salesman, which has been further developed by his experience in selling college jewelry, will soon desert his chosen field of science and become head salesman for the College Memory Book Company. In this profession he will make a marked success, due to his innocent look and his rapid method of shooting a certain well-known specie of the cow family.

J. C. Ledbetter will serve as pastor of the following churches: Rolesville, Littleton, Shelby and the Tabernacle of Atlanta. At the latter place he will introduce something new in church regulations—that of censoring all letters written by members of his congregation.

Jimmy Hoge and Eddie Polo Holman, having served faithfully and well on the staff of Old Gold and Black, feel that they cannot separate and will therefore serve as reporters on The Forestville Evening Star, Youngsville Express, The Fayetteville Observer and The Chicago Tribune. Though naturally bashful, they will eventually conquer their innate shyness toward the ladies and both will marry at a late age. By the year 1935 Jimmy will be editor-in-chief of the New York World and Eddie will hold the same position with the New York Times.

Ransom Averitt will divide his time between writing feature stories for each of the above papers and smoking his "Jimmy Pipe" filled with Prince Albert, not bought but borrowed from Jimmy and Eddie.

Ben Dodd will marry Miss (deleted by the censor) and finally take over the medical practice of his grandfather. His wife being an insurance agent and offering insurance at a discount, Ben will heavily insure himself as a means of prolonging his own life. "Oh! What fools these mortals be!"

Coy Carpenter will in time become a famous surgeon and will establish a hospital near Apex which will rival the famous establishment of the Mayo brothers. Those associated with Dr. Coy in this enterprise will be: Dr. C. A. Thompson, face specialist, inspiration for which he got from his own good looks; Dr. J. C. Anders, foot specialist; Dr. O. D. Baxter, diseases of the spine; Dr. Joseph Feraca, ear, eye, nose and throat; Dr. J. R. Howard, the skin; Dr. H. M. Shuford and Dr. J. W. Straughan (the best-looking man in the Senior Class), surgeons; Dr. E. H. Erasmus Taylor, nerves; Drs. W. Titus Ward and W. N. (Ark) Williams, anything and everything.

After taking his Ph.D. at Oxford University, King David Brown will return to Wake Forest as associate professor of Latin, where he will shine equally with the present Latin professor until he allows one of the co-eds to vamp him. Thereafter he will lose all interest in the things of this world and live only for love's sake.

H. T. Ray will naturally become a worthy follower of O. Henry, and, after accumulating quite a fortune from the sale of his short stories, will divide his time between writing and telling stale jokes—mostly telling jokes.

G. A. Mears, after completing his course at Jefferson Medical College, will go to China, where he will become known all over Asia as the angel of health and good cheer. While walking the streets of Peking one day he will meet his friend, Dr. C. G. Poole, but alas! Poole will be breaking the Sabbath and, true to his nature, Mears will point out to him the error of his way. Thereupon Poole, too, will hear the call of un-Christianized China and, instead of trying to lay up for himself much filthy lucre, will join Mears in his efforts to cure and Christianize China, and thus they will lay up for themselves treasures above.

Bill Ellis, upon leaving Wake Forest, will feel lonesome for awhile because he will have no one whom he can call "old lady." However, soon he will make known his loneliness to Miss Alto, G. C. W., who will readily take the hint and say, "Oh! how sudden, Bill!" After the two are quietly married, due to the groom's natural shyness, Bill will teach a few years, but eventually will be unable to resist the call of the diamond, and will supplant Roger Hornsby as the star second baseman of the National League.

After a few years wandering around, teaching, editing and coaching, one "S. Foot" Graham will return to Wake Forest as coach of the basketball team and, due to the fact that from his own salary he will provide a training table in order to furnish a properly balanced diet to his athletes, his team will win the state championship for five successive years. He will be assisted in the coaching by former captain J. B. Carlyle.

Sol Fulton and J. H. Bunn will form a law firm in the city of Wilmington, it being slightly "wet" there. Each will become noted for his eloquence and ability. Due to political ability acquired in running for office at Wake Forest, J. H. Bunn will defeat Eugene Roberts for the governorship of North Carolina, in 1940. Desiring an efficient staff, he will immediately appoint W. O. Kelley as his private secretary. M. G. Boyette, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, will resign shortly after the inauguration of Governor Bunn, and Sol Fulton will be appointed to that position. Governor Bunn's dignity, fairness and courtesy in the office of Governor will become a by-word in the mouths of all the people from Manteo to Murphy.

W. Y. Floyd will sell tailor-made clothes for a year after leaving college, and will then form a law partnership with Bailey and Bailey. His success as a corporation lawyer will enable him to ride on railroad passes and dispense with his usual way of making trips—via pedis.

"Skinny" Stroud and J. A. Hudson will desert the law and the ministry and go into the movies as rivals of "Fatty" (Roscoe) Arbuckle. However, they will be forever shy of hotel parties and San Francisco.

Having practiced so faithfully and long to the edification and worry of the entire student body, Terry Bain some time will learn to sing. After many efforts his excellent ability as a singer will be recognized, and he will become first tenor soloist for the Metropolitan Opera Company, of which T. B. Mauney will be manager.

F. W. Jarvis will, after having started training in Raleigh, on April 5, 1921, following Wake's baseball victory over State College, win the all-state cross-country run in 1925. In the race he will be closely followed by E. P. Bazemore, "Pec Wee" Buck and Charley Pinner. All these will develop into wonderful runners.

After a few years as pastor of small-town churches, F. L. Israel will eventually come into his own, and will gradually rise until at last he will become pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church of New York City. He will have as his assistant pastor N. J. Todd.

J. R. Nelson will become professor of the English Bible at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary after having served an apprenticeship in instructing "Newish" at Wake Forest.

"Shorty" Rogers will become proprietor of the Busy Bee cafe in Raleigh, and during his spare time will give a mail order course of exercises on "How to Grow Tall." His waiters will be H. H. Simpson and Coy Upchurch.

Cary Bowden will be elected by the state Democratic convention as official nominator of all candidates. This recognition will be paid him because of his proficiency in nominating people for office, which art was learned while in school at Wake Forest.

"Sky" Crouch will still run the Mitchell Club and frequently write an article for Old Gold and Black on "The Advantages of a Derby Over a Soft Hat."

A. L. Beck will go to Norlina as pastor of the Baptist Church, and, after a short pastorate there, his ability will become so well known that he will be made corresponding secretary of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina.

The most famous quartet in the country five years from now will be the distinctly American quartet composed of B. L. Mullinax, T. C. Burnette, O. H. Hauser and L. C. McCurry. They will eventually become rich, as their business manager will be R. M. Lee.

The following law firms will be realities by 1930: Kearney, McLean and Fountain; Williams, McLeod, Taylor and Williams.

In 1926 Dimples Harris will be elected to the chair of applied business management at Wake Forest. This will be directly due to his wonderful business ability displayed in managing the Glee Club at Wake Forest in 1921-'22.

As to Chris Crittenden, "Bugs" Wilson and "Military Police" Wright, who are so greedy as not to be satisfied with one degree, but who insist on an M.A., their prophecy was written by the prophet Isaiah hundreds of years ago, and if you are interested enough to look you will find it in Isaiah 2:7.

C. Sylvester Green will become famous as an author. His most famous book will be "The Art of Distinctiveness." Thus assured of national prominence he will go to Meredith College as head of the department of English and assistant to the dean.

G. T. Carswell will soon get a divorce and immediately write a masterpiece entitled, "Paradise Regained."

R. B. Dawes will open a school of oratory in Arkansas.

Francis Hobson and Bill McCallum will buy out the firm of Hinds and Noble and devote their entire time and energy to the publication of "Jacques," familiarly known as "Ponies."

J. C. Hough will finally overcome his natural bashfulness and ask a certain girl (deleted by the censor) the all-important question. Her answer will be "yes"—which will so scare Joe that we dare not prophesy further.

C. O. (Puss) Hamrick will finally see the light and become a "sky," and will join J. Y. Greene as a missionary to the dwellers of the "Harricane."

As to one A. L. Goodrich—the less prophesied the better.

PROPHET.

Last Will and Testament

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA
COUNTY OF WAKE

I, the Class of Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-two, of the aforesaid state and county, being of sound mind and in full possession of our faculties, but considering the early termination of our sojourn at Wake Forest College and our subsequent departure for the hearths from which we came, and realizing that quizzes are now instruments of a by-gone age and that the ancient college bell no longer rings out a command to us, do make, declare and publish this, our last will and testament.

First: Our executor, hereinafter named, shall clothe our formal departure from this college life with ceremonies becoming our dignity and position, and shall pay the expenses thereof, together with all costs of our sheepskin diplomas, out of the proceeds resulting from the five-dollar subscription paid by each of us.

Second: We express our sincere gratitude to our parents and friends who have made it possible for us to arrive at this glad hour.

Third: To the faculty we give in perpetuity our love and esteem, and an ever-increasing respect in token of what they have so graciously done in equipping us for the life beyond college walls.

Fourth: We give and bequeath in perpetuity our loyalty and devotion to our Alma Mater.

Fifth: We give and devise to Director Langston and his heirs, to have and to hold in fee simple, the old athletic field, bounded by Faculty Avenue on the west, by Dr. Gully's residence on the south, by the Seaboard Air Line Railway tracks on the east and by Mayor Mills' residence on the north. This devise we make in consideration of Director Langston's diligent and manifold labors in constructing a fence around the said field.

Sixth: We give and bequeath to Dr. Hubert M. Poteat one large megaphone in order that his inaudible voice may be made to penetrate the confines of his class room and the chapel hall.

Seventh: We give and bequeath to Professor Hubert A. Jones one marriage license and a new Overland runabout.

Eighth: To "Doctor" Tom Jeffries we give the sole and exclusive right to deliver all lectures on "Married Life," "College Spirit" and "Philosophy" at Wake Forest College.

Ninth: To each of the following departments:

1. To the Law Class we give one shingle inscribed "Attorneys at Law."

2. To the Education Club we give and bequeath one set of the complete works of Thomas Settle Graham, Jr., on "Research in the Fields of Political Science and Home Economics."

3. To the Medical Class we give and bequeath the sole and exclusive franchise to the pelting with "stiff meat" of all innocent passers-by.

4. To the "Sky" Class we give and bequeath Dr. Pearson's Overland touring car, to have and to hold for the term of their college life, that their journeys to and from the women's colleges of the surrounding country may be facilitated.

Tenth: To each of the underclasses:

1. To the Freshman Class we give and devise for the term of their sophomoric existence the plot of ground along the east wall of the campus, surrounding the base of the water-tank tower, as a meeting place for the formulation of plans looking towards the formal reception of the "newish."

2. To the Sophomore Class we give nothing more nor less than forgiveness for their many acts of torture and terrorization of the freshmen.

3. To the Junior Class we do give, bequeath and devise, to have, hold and exercise so long as they remain at Wake Forest College, all of our senior dignity, prestige, privileges and immunities.

Eleventh: Our will and desire is that all the residue of our estate, of whatsoever nature, and whensoever, wheresoever and howsoever acquired, and not herein disposed of, shall be sold by our executor or his successor and the proceeds thereof used in the purchase of stationery for the use of the athletic-team managers.

Twelfth: And whereas the Junior Class is a minor of the age of three years, and will not attain the full age of seniority until the fifth day of September, Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-two: Now, therefore, our will and desire is that "Cary" Bowden be, and is hereby constituted and appointed, guardian of the said Junior Class, to have and to hold the custody of their estate until the said Junior Class shall arrive at the full age of seniority.

Thirteenth: We hereby constitute and appoint our beloved dean our lawful and sole executor to all intents and purposes, to execute this, our last will and testament, according to the true intent and meaning of the same, hereby revoking and declaring null and void all other wills and testaments by us heretofore made.

In witness whereof, we, the said Class of Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-two, the testators, have to this, our last will and testament, subscribed our names and affixed our seals, this twenty-sixth day of May, in the year of our Lord, the One Thousand Nine Hundred and Twenty-second.

Junior Class History

The Class of '23, which began its college career in the fall of 1919, is an unusually large class. It contains, besides the usual quota of high-school youths, a goodly number of lads who participated in the late war and there learned, among the valuable lessons of that catastrophe, the inestimable value of a good education. Not only is every section of the Old North State represented in this class, but a number of other states as well. Several members of our class availed themselves of last year's summer school and, with a little extra work, left us to graduate with the Class of '22. A few have dropped by the wayside from year to year, but the majority of our original number are still plugging away toward the completion of our full four-year course.

The Class of '23 does not claim to have a corner on the genius of this sphere, nor boast that its members are a race of supermen in every activity known to man. It is a good average class, unlike all others because no two classes are alike in personnel, temperament or ability. But it does claim to have given worthy men to every religious, intellectual or athletic activity of which the college boasts. From our class came the formidable Heckman, mainstay of the football team, and the lightning-like Stringfield, baseball and tennis star; and the oratorical talent of this class bids fair to rival even its athletic prowess.

As we round the third lap of our college life, having worn off the greenness of freshmanhood and weathered successfully the sophistication of sophomoreity, we have settled down to real work and feel that the high ideals which our admirable faculty has instilled in us are bearing fruit already. At least this much is certain: the Junior Class appreciates the high and noble views of life which Wake Forest has so generously impressed upon us these three years, and loyally pledges its best toward the building of an ever higher, nobler and better Wake Forest. In this spirit does the Class of '23 desire to contribute to the glory of Old Wake.

SOPHOMORE CLASS POEM

How empty we swagger when we say
That of all classes ours must be the best,
Not willing to accept that, like the rest,
We lounge and swear and whistle time away,
Wasting our fathers' substance. Well, the day
Will soon be here—years before we have guessed—
On which we give ourselves this damning test:
How are we changed, to justify our stay?
Many have lost their faith, but found their mind—
Have found, but failed to educate, their heart:
A pity they . . . Yet leave these behind,
And see what leisure taught a larger part:
*The will to think; desire for highest things;
Beauty and Duty both, the soul's wings.*

C. ROBERTSON, Poet.

History of the Sophomore Class

IN September the twentieth, nineteen hundred and twenty, the Class of '24 made its initial appearance upon the stage of college life. We were great in numbers and as thoroughly ignorant and green as any "newish" bunch; still we had hopes and ambitions to achieve deeds that would make our class immortal and give us success in our individual lives. We had the characteristics that belong to every Freshman Class: the desire to visit the fair sex, attend the movie shows, meet the night trains and preserve our precious hair. Notwithstanding appearances, we knew that our bunch was decidedly different from any that had ever entered Wake Forest College.

Towards the latter part of the first month the president of the Senior Class called a meeting of the meek and unorganized "newish" for the purpose of electing officers. O. B. Sikes was overwhelmingly elected president. Under his faithful and dutiful guidance we arrived safely through our year's travel, acquiring much in experience and knowledge, and anxious to start another journey towards our goal at the beginning of the present year.

During the first week of the new term ex-President Sikes called a meeting of the now "wide-awake" Sophomores and, after much discussion and profound oratory, J. S. Johnson was chosen president; G. M. Modlin, vice-president; R. L. Pugh, secretary; C. V. Williams, treasurer; R. W. Harrison, member of the honor committee, and Carey Robertson, poet. Under the leadership of these men we have been led to the altar of wisdom, and have sacrificed there all of our false hopes and ambitions and achieved within us new and nobler ideals.

The class has an athletic record to be proud of, last year taking the championship in football, baseball and basketball. Besides excelling the other classes in the sports, we have sent many men to the varsity teams, Martin, Ayres and Brandon going to the football team, Abernathy starring in basketball, and Stanley Johnson belonging to our superb pitching staff in baseball.

Not in athletics only does our class excel, for in the class room, society halls, Y. M. C. A., B. Y. P. U., on the campus with our fellow-students and in the college publications our members will rank with the best of any class. Thus we look forward to our third year at old Wake Forest with high hopes of making a brilliant record in all college activities.

FRESHMAN CLASS

Freshman Class History

If I were a Gibbon or Guyot, I would write a history that would do justice to the Class of '25. Since I am neither, I will merely put down a few facts about what is now known as the Freshman Class.

We came here in September from all parts of the Old North State and from other states of this great land of ours. We were about as green as the magnolias that grow on the campus; so we could not blame the sophomores for laughing at us as we stood around like lambs that had lost their tails and didn't know where to find them. The upperclassmen were always ready to advise us what to do and where to go, though if we followed their advice we usually found ourselves at the serious end of a joke.

The first night we spent here will be remembered by most of us "till the sun goes down and the moon comes up." The sophomores came around and yelled, "Out of your holes, Newish," loud enough to be heard by any sensible freshman. It did not take us long to come out of our "holes," and soon we were marching up the street to the tune of "And We'll Ride Old Newish on the Rail." We were marched to the center of town, where each of us was given a chance to show how well he could sing or dance.

After the first night or two, the yell changed from "Out of your holes" to "Get in your holes, Newish." About the last day of the first week we found a poster on the bulletin board with all the "rules" we were to observe. Some of them were as follows:

- Be in your "hole" after sundown.
- Don't loaf down town.
- Stay away from the "movies" at night.
- Discard all your pipes and cigars.
- Speak to all students and tip your hats to the professors.
- Don't meet the "Shoo-fly."
- Don't wear any high school insignia.

We had to stay at home—couldn't even meet the trains—and, ye gods! we couldn't even smoke our pipes. Imagine us hiding every time we wanted to smoke, like we used to do before we became freshmen.

About the close of the first month the class was called together by the Senior Class president and organized. Things then began to run smoothly for the class as a whole, although many fake meets were announced. These announcements were jokes on us, played by those who had a humorous trend of mind.

Though we had our fears and, as we thought, our troubles, they are over now and we are loyal sons of Old Gold and Black, standing ready always to "Herald her story and die for her glory." Such is the history of the Freshman Class.

MINISTERIAL CLASS

Ministerial Class History

UNOSTENTATIOUS in its work but great in numbers and strength, the Ministerial Class from year to year accomplishes a two-fold service: from it springs one of the greatest influences in the student body which make Wake Forest distinctively a religious college; and through its organization and weekly meetings it helps its individual members. Many of them make practical use, in nearby churches which they serve, of this valuable training, while to others it is an important part of their preparation for future service.

The class this year numbers eighty men who are not only good "Skies" but active workers in other phases of college life as well. Athletes, writers, debaters, orators, poets, musicians—leaders of almost every kind—are found in this bunch of preachers. To the "Skies" their class is not only the largest but also the most important departmental group in college. However, they do not underrate other callings, neither despising nor undervaluing the importance of other classes.

To Alma Mater and to all our professors we owe as great a debt of gratitude as do any other students. But to two faculty members in particular—Dr. W. R. Cullom, whom we think of peculiarly as a leader of the class, and Dr. W. B. Royal, the fatherly interpreter with whom to be associated means manifold blessings—are we indebted for a great part of that which makes college life worth while, and for much that we learn here in preparation for the work of ministers out in the world.

Each year the class sends out a large number of its members, some to active work in the ministry and some to theological institutions for further training; but the following session always finds the ranks repleted with new men who have heard the call to that noble service—the ministry.

MEDICAL CLASS

Medical Class History

OR many years the Medical School at Wake Forest has been recorded among the AI medical schools of the United States. With all who know its standards of work it has won permanent recognition as one of our leading two-year schools of medicine. However, to keep strictly up to the highest standard, the entire department has been worked over on lines suggested by the American Association of Medical Colleges. The most modern laboratory equipment has been installed, and today our school has the high endorsement of this association, of which it is a member.

These achievements, including the high rating of our school, have been made possible through the unusual energy and ability of our faculty, led by the beloved professor of physiology and pharmacology, Dr. Thurman D. Kitchen, dean of the School of Medicine.

Under these able men our class has labored consistently in the various laboratories since beginning its illustrious career in the fall of 1920. Much to our sorrow, several of our number found it necessary to leave us during the first year. The fall of '21 found the rest of us resuming our studies with a happy realization of being another year nearer our chosen ideal of relieving human suffering. Under the spell of the silver-toned oratory of Erasmus Hezekiah Eucalyptus Taylor and the serene laughter of Benjamin Roscoe Dodd, the officers for the new term were elected. Instinctively, every member saw in Charles Glenn Poole unmatched qualities for our leader. As was expected, Poole has proved an efficient administrator as well as a general favorite and a proficient student. The other officers elected were: J. F. Powers, Vice-President; G. L. Edwards, Secretary; E. H. E. Taylor, treasurer; Willie Cheves, poet, and C. C. Carpenter, historian.

With sincere regret mingled with a multitude of happy memories, we are leaving our Alma Mater to continue our work in the higher medical schools. However in the heart of every member of the Medical Class Wake Forest has found a permanent abiding place.

EDUCATION CLUB

Education Club History

IN 1920 the Education Club took on new life through its adoption of concrete objectives. Under the leadership of Professor H. T. Hunter, head of the school of education, a committee of correspondence was created whose duty it was to communicate with county superintendents and other educators for the purpose of placing Wake Forest men in educational work. The results were most satisfactory. Again in 1921 there was established, on the initiative of Dr. D. B. Bryan, a publicity bureau. In consequence of the work of this bureau, one hundred and ten newspapers, dailies and weeklies, are carrying regularly news-letters of the college and the club. This new system of publicity has proved a most efficient method of keeping the alumni in touch with the news of their Alma Mater. Other minor committees, such as the social committee and the initiation committee, add vigor and refinement to the club.

One of the aims of the club is to create a spirit of professional preparation. Members of the club are not recommended by the correspondence committee unless thoroughly prepared for the work to be done. This is intended as a protection to county superintendents, as well as a means of upholding the long established reputation of Wake Forest men for efficiency. During this year, many interesting and well-prepared papers dealing with vital educational problems, have been read from time to time. These papers are bound into a single volume and placed in the college library for reference. In this way the club is rendering a real service to the prospective teachers who will go out from Wake Forest.

The Wake Forest Teacher-Placement Bureau, organized and fostered by the Education Club, is filling a long-felt want in the work of the college, namely: that of finding the best positions for the graduates who expect to follow teaching as a profession. The close contact of the officers of the bureau with school officials of the state affords the members of the bureau the opportunity to secure the most desirable positions, and also enables the school executives to get in touch with the men best suited for the work of their school. Active membership is confined to members of the Education Club at present in college and to those who have graduated and at present are engaged in teaching.

The Department of Publicity was established as a part of the extension work done by the Education Club during the year. The work of this department includes the distribution each week of a news-letter which gives the general college activities that are of interest to readers all over the state. These news-letters are mailed to one hundred and ten weekly, semiweekly and daily papers in the State of North Carolina, and are instrumental in placing the work of Wake Forest before the people of this commonwealth.

With athletics rapidly gaining in importance at Wake Forest College, it became apparent last year that the management of this department must be placed upon a systematic basis. Accordingly, the opening of the session of 1920 saw the beginning of a movement for an athletic council. The plan, as submitted by the "W" Club, gained rapidly in popularity, and at the beginning of the spring term, 1921, the Athletic Council system was organized. Since that date it has been functioning very effectively.

The Athletic Council is composed of three students, three faculty members and one representative of the alumni. The president of the organization is chosen from the student representatives, and the secretary-treasurer is elected from among the faculty members.

The council is responsible for employing the athletic coaching staff, handles all finances connected with athletics, and appoints all managers and assistant managers of the various athletic teams. In this manner officers are chosen strictly on their merit and ability rather than on account of their "political pull" and prowess among the students. Marked improvements in management have already resulted from this new system. It gives even greater promise for the future.

Football Season

WITH only two victories out of ten games played, the Wake Forest football season of 1921 cannot be said to have been a success. This lack of success, however, was somewhat made up for by the victory over Davidson College, the first in the history of football between the two institutions.

In three contests the Old Gold and Black eleven did show up creditably and exhibit the brand of football that they were capable of playing at times. These three games were: The Carolina contest in which Wake Forest registered thirteen first downs, threatening to score on three occasions; the State game, which State won by only two touchdowns, and the Davidson game, in which the Baptist eleven emerged victors, 10-7.

This last game was the one outstanding exhibition of the year. Wake Forest played in a style deserving her hard-earned victory. In this game, as in the nine others, George Heckman, star halfback, played stellar football, scoring a touchdown, kicking goal after the touchdown, and later breaking the 7-7 tie by drop-kicking from the thirty-five-yard line. Heckman was the only Wake Forest man to be chosen for the first All-State mythical eleven, but he received his honor without opposition and was considered probably the best all-round gridiron star in the state.

It would be difficult to explain the lack of a successful season. It will suffice to state that the team did play exceedingly erratically, showing up brilliantly at times and again lacking every evidence of team work and strength. With a wealth of material, we had a perfect right to expect victories in at least five of the contests. But the "dope" was upset badly here as well as elsewhere in the football world. The one redeeming feature of our otherwise unsuccessful season was the deserving victory over the Presbyterian "Wildcats."

The record of the season is as follows:

Wake Forest . . . . .	0; Georgia Tech . . . . .	42
Wake Forest . . . . .	0; Carolina . . . . .	21

Football

J. F. WHITE . . . . . Miami, Florida

Coach Jim White began his second year at Wake Forest as coach of football by continuing his system of 1920. His plays went well when executed correctly, and partial results from his efforts were experienced in the Davidson game, when his team reached the climax of the season.

F. L. FULTON . . . . . Wilmington, North Carolina

In Captain Fulton the Old Gold and Black eleven possessed the same consistent "Sol" of '18, '19 and '20. Captain Sol played his hardest in every game from the beginning until the finish, and was recognized as a fit example for his men to emulate.

C. W. WEATHERS . . . . . Raleigh, North Carolina

Manager "Birdie" Weathers was a star without a uniform. To him goes the credit, and the work, for the season's schedule, arrangement of all trips and games, and the care of the players. His lot was a hard one, but his ability and inexhaustible energy enabled him to acquit himself admirably.

S. O. BRANDON . . . . . Jonesville, North Carolina

Brandon was the "find" of the season. Light, fast and consistent, he could be depended upon to do his level best in every game. He is one of the few that played in all the ten games of the season; and his ability on the gridiron for the first time indicates that much is to be expected of him next year.

F. A. ARMSTRONG . . . . . Hobgood, North Carolina

For two years before 1921 Frank Armstrong was a man that Wake Forest could depend on to carry the ball when called upon, but not until his last year in college did he show up in his best form. This year he made a reputation for himself, and at times stood out in brilliant form.

G. B. HECKMAN . . . . . Carlyle, Pennsylvania

George Heckman continued his stellar work throughout the entire season and lived up to his past reputation. His work in every game was spectacular, especially in the Davidson and Carolina contests. His selection for halfback of the all-state mythical eleven was deserved, for truly it can be said that he was the best all-round player in the state.

J. P. BOYLIN . . . . . Wadesboro, North Carolina

As a quarterback this year, Jack Boylin probably played his best football of three years' membership in the Wake Forest gridiron aggregation. Jack's headwork was his foremost asset, and the manner in which he ran the team is significant of his wisdom in the art of football. Jack participated in every game of the year except one.

P. D. WESTERHOFF . . . . . Midland Park, New Jersey

Peter Westerhoff held down right end, and with the exception of one game he was in every exhibition of the year. His knowledge of the game contributed much to his ability to take care of his position, both on the defense and offense. He played his best game against Davidsoo.

F. M. PEARCE . . . . . Zebulon, North Carolina

"Brute" Pearce completed his career as a member of the Wake Forest football team by playing his best year of football at regular tackle. He played in every game of the season and stood out as a line man of the first rank, being mentooned for the all-state eleven.

T. J. MOSS . . . . . Forest City, North Carolina

Not making the all-state team, as was beforehand expected, Big Tom Moss was, nevertheless, a line man of eminent ability. His playing at tackle on the first string eleven always could be depended upon, and his mighty frame was constaatly seen in every play as a tower of strength and skill.

J. L. TAYLOR . . . . . Rutherfordton, North Carolina

During his fourth and last year, "Red Devil" Taylor held down the center of the line. For three years he had played good football, but not until the 1921 season did he do himself justice and receive the credit that was due him. He participated in every game of the year, and never for a moment did he let up, whether winning or losing.

L. B. MARTIN . . . . . Hamptonville, North Carolina

Martin is as hard as a nail, and he doesn't fear anything that wears a football uniform. No, not even the Georgia Technicians. Although only a second-year student, Martin had no trouble making the regular varsity squad this year as a line man. His size and fearlessness will make him a terror to his opponents during the next two years.

E. G. LEE . . . . . Lincolnton, North Carolina

No man on the team plays more consistent football than Lee. He is a man of great strength and durability. He can always be counted upon to play the game in a manner which will do credit to his team.

J. H. JOHNSON . . . . . Raleigh, North Carolina

John Johnson began his career at Wake Forest this year, playing substitute center and anywhere else in the line that a good man was needed. His interest in the game and his willingness to learn predict for him a promising career in football during the next two or three years.

W. A. JOHNSON . . . . . Raleigh, North Carolina

No man on the first string merited his position more than Bill Johnson. Playing guard, a position that is apt not to show its defender up spectacularly, Bill nevertheless did star. In every contest he was to be found playing a consistent, hard, clean game of football, worthy of the praise he received.

R. B. LOWRY . . . . . Elizabeth City, North Carolina

Not until the middle of the football season was "Rabbit" Lowry heard of. But from this time until the last game of the year, he was the phenomeaal player of the team. Only weighing 130 pounds, he nevertheless was recognized as one of the fastest and hardest-to-tackle backfield men on the team.

M. P. WRIGHT . . . . . Wendell, North Carolina

Wright was a substitute in the backfield, but, due to circumstances, was given but few chances to exhibit his ability. The times that he was in the line-up he played well and did himself credit.

L. J. DAWKINS . . . . . Ruby, South Carolina

"Tubby" Dawkins was a member of the football squad who could be depended upon to play his best every moute he was in the game. Weighing 190, he was one of the hardest men in uoifo m to move, and was a strength to the team while in the game, especially on the defense.

F. G. MORGAN . . . . . Burlington, North Carolina

Morgan was the man picked to be the first substitute end of the team, and when given opportunity to show his mettle on the flank he never failed to respond. His tackling was especially commendable.

R. H. REITZEL . . . . . Siler City, North Carolina

It was not until the last two or three games of the year that Freshman Reitzel's value to a team was really known. Throughout the first part of the season he played here and there as a substitute, but in the last three games he started each exhibition and played a brand of football that should guarantee for him a permanent berth on the '22 squad.

S. A. BOWDEN . . . . . Calypso, North Carolina

After three years of scrub football, "Cary" Bowden received his reward for hard work by playing varsity end. His light but nery body was in every play while he was in the game, and he justly deserved his position on the left flank.

E. F. HOLMAN . . . . . Wilkesboro, North Carolina

Giving up a prominent position on the Glee Club, Eddie donned the football togs in 1920 and for two seasons has played football in a manner which has won the admiration of both those on the field and on the bleachers. It is with regret that we see him leave, when the prospects for his career in football seem so bright.

J. SAWYER . . . . . Columbia, North Carolina

In this lank youth lie all the qualities of a real football player. Although not participating in any varsity games, he showed an ability to play good football in every scrub game. We predict for him a position on the varsity for next year.

Basketball Season, 1922

XCEEDING last year's record in number of games won by a good majority, the basketball season of 1922 can well be described as successful. To Coach William W. Holding goes a good deal of credit for the record and strength of the '22 quintet, for mainly through his efforts and ability was the representation from Wake Forest on the court able to command the place in North Carolina basketball that it did. It was not, however, until after the season began that the team really struck its stride, but from then on it "went like a house afire," as the Raleigh News and Observer put it.

For the first time in several years Wake Forest defeated N. C. State College in basketball on the Auditorium Court in Raleigh. The game was by far the most exciting of the entire season. Wake Forest, after emerging from the first half on the small end of a 13-3 score, staged a remarkable comeback and defeated the Red and White five 27 to 20. The series with Trinity was split, Wake Forest losing the initial affray in Durham; and winning from the Methodists on the local court. Wofford was likewise snowed under by the score of 40 to 16. Other state and interstate quintets fell victim to Wake Forest on different occasions.

The strength of the 1922 team lay chiefly in its speed and determination to win. Though light in weight, the Wake Forest quintet had the reputation of being the fastest in the state. Its victories over the heavier teams representing State College, Trinity and Guilford are sufficient proofs to substantiate this reputation. The eight little reasons for this are: (1) Heckman, (2) Capt. Carlyle, (3) Stringfield, (4) Ellis, (5) Abernathy, (6) Greason, (7) Smith, (8) Hough.

THE HOWLER

W. W. Holding, Coach Wake Forest, N. C.—Coach Bill Holding is a graduate of Wake Forest College, having taken his A. B. degree in 1916. While a student he was one of the best all-round athletes in college, making his letter in football, basketball and baseball. In basketball he was especially adept, being heralded in all of the newspapers as the best player in North Carolina. After graduation he played basketball and baseball with various professional and semi-professional athletic clubs, and in 1920 was back at his Alma Mater coaching basketball. Hence when Coach Holding returned to us last Christmas he was not an unknown quantity. However, he must have whispered some of his ancient lore into the ears of the players, for he accomplished the unexpected. Taking his material in hand immediately after the Christmas holidays, he had developed within two weeks a smooth-working, lightning-like quarter that had seemed to be impossible a short while before. When it is said that the team even assumed some of BILL'S old style through his tutelage, sufficient compliment is tendered its coach.

C. C. Carpenter, Manager Apex, N. C.—Manager Carpenter was one of the ranking members of the '22 team, and to him is due a big part of the success of the season. He not only arranged one of the fullest and best schedules of recent years but throughout the playing season he devoted his time and energy to the welfare of his men, counting no job too hard nor any sacrifice too great for the good of the team. As a result, nothing was lacking in efficient management, either at home or on trips. He had an important job—and filled it well.

J. B. Carlisle, Captain Wake Forest, N. C.—Captain Jack Carlisle was not rivaled by a single player on the Wake Forest team. Certain it is that at times he was not the most spectacular player in a sports game, but when an average is taken for the entire season, it will be seen that, for consistent playing and a perfect knack at the game, he was not to be excelled. His work against State College and Trinity was especially outstanding.

W. A. Ellis—Bill Ellis was without a doubt the fastest man who wore the Old Gold and Black uniform; and if we should assert that he was the fastest basketball player in the state, such an assertion could not be denied. As a guard he was beyond criticism, possessing, as he did, the unrivalled ability to take a shot at the goal and then to cover his man before the ball had a chance to approach the other end of the court.

G. B. Heckman—As a running guard, George Heckman was a tower of wealth for Wake Forest. His lank, well-knit figure could be seen in every play throughout the season; and it was a foregone conclusion that when Heckman was to be the opponent of a man on another team, that man was not destined to cage many goals. His aggressiveness and good sportsmanship contributed much to the team, and to the glory of old Wake Forest.

L. A. Abernathy—Abernathy held down one of the forward positions on the '22 team with credit to himself and his college. He was one of the best shots on the quintet, and has the record of caging more goals than any other member of the team. He is a fast player and knows how to handle himself well in accordance with the new rules that came into effect with the season of 1922.

V. B. Stringfield—Playing his third year on the Wake Forest basketball team, Vann Stringfield surpassed all former years in efficiency on the court. Although handicapped somewhat by his size in such a game, he nevertheless overcame such odds by his speed and ability to drop the sphere through the basket from all positions on the floor.

Murray Greason—Since Wake Forest's team was built for speed, the quintet was fortunate in having Murray Greason on its list of performers. His fleetness of foot and ability to shoot, combined with his knack of getting the ball away from an opponent, made him a valuable and dependable player always.

J. C. Hough—Hough is absolutely the product of his bulldog determination to play basketball. The big guard started out during his earlier days at Wake Forest to play the popular sport; his senior year at Wake Forest brought him his reward. Possibly no man on the team could be depended upon better to keep the ball, once he got his fingers on it, than Joe.

F. Smith—Smith began his collegiate career at Wake Forest by making a reputation for himself in the zone of basketball. His lithe and sinewy build enabled him to get about the floor with ease and speed and to drop the ball through the wire frame with a grace that characterized him as one of the best shots on the team.

Finishing First Half 10 Points Behind, Wake Forest Beats State, 27 To 20

Finishing the first half on the small end of a 13 to 3 score, the Wake Forest quint that might elope a combok of the dream variety and defeated North Carolina State College by a score of 27 to 20.

It was precumenarily a game of long shots and fouls. Risky shots put State in the lead in the beginning and the same sort of tactics were used by the Baptists to make self machine as have not been seen before on the Auditorium court. The principal effect of the fouls was to slow up the game. Although a total of 26 were committed by both sides, Captain Carlyle was the only player to make the four of the personal variety that spell humiliated of neither team was able to profit extensively by the opportunities for free shots. Greese, of State, did splendid form in the first half and has five baskets out of seven tries contributed materially to his team's lead, but he slumped badly in the second span, his total score for the evening being eight out of fourteen.

For Wake Forest, the combined efforts of Carlyle and Abernathy netted only three points from the foul line, out of a possible twelve. The game started in slow fashion and continued in the same manner through most of the first half. Each team made one basket from the court at the start, and from then until the closing pages of the chop there were few chances to shoot and none of them resulted in baskets. However, foul after foul ran State's total up to seven points and at the end of the half two long shots by Long and Park and a beautiful goal from an angle by Greese gave the Techs a ten point lead.

But between the halves something happened to the Baptist crew. Perhaps Coach Bill Holding whispered some of his ancient lore in their ears, or maybe they decided for themselves that they needed regeneration. At any rate, it was quite different combination that lined up for the second game. In the first half Wake Forest had attempted to work the ball under the hoop, using both a passing and a dribbling game. In the second round, they developed all most altogether on long shots and after they try fall into the hands of Carlyle.

When the Baptist quint got to going, it hit on all five cylinders, Stringfield being the only player to score only once and the twelve old goals being distributed so as to give no one more than three. Carlyle played the best game of anybody on the floor, playing in the key all the time and displaying these two qualities, as rare as they are valuable, of being able to snatch the ball from an opponent without committing a foul and ability to shoot when closely guarded. But, at

Wake Forest Quint Wins Bitterly Contested Game By Score of 24 To 22

Wake Forest, Feb. 1.—In the most thrilling basketball contest seen on the local arena, in years, Wake Forest College tonight defeated Trinity 24 to 22, avenging a defeat of 31 to 20 registered by the Methodists earlier in the season.

The game was fast and bitterly contested throughout, but the locals held the lead all the way and were not in serious danger of losing until the last few minutes of play when Trinity staged an offensive that netted six points and threatened to win the game. However, the score remained at the final figures during the last two minutes of play and the crowd went wild with excitement.

Wake Forest kept the ball in its territory during most of the first half and, though missing many easy shots, the Baptists drew frequent applause by caging the ball from every angle of the court.

Entering the second half with the score 12 to 10 in favor of Wake Forest, both teams fought desperately and effectively. Wake Forest increased its lead only to have the scores cut down by the Methodists last minute apart.

Wake Forest was an easy leader in field goals, but the visitors were aided by fouls.

Both teams displayed excellent teamwork, but George Heckman, who guarded superbly and caged the ball three times from the court, was the outstanding figure of the game, Carlyle also played well for Wake Forest, while Ellis proved to be the fastest man on the floor.

For Trinity, Simpson and Crane both played excellently, the former scoring four field goals and Crane eight from the foul line to his credit.

Wake Forest, Feb. 11.—Outlasting the visitors during every portion of the game except the first five minutes of play, Bill Holding's Wake Forest quint tonight defeated the Guilford Quakers by the score of 34 to 23.

Guilford began with a rush, holding the top end of 12 to 6 score at the end of five minutes of play. However, the locals then took a brace and were leading to the tune of 17 to 12 at the end of the first half and were never in danger during the final period.

Abernathy and Stringfield led in scoring for the Baptists, with six and four field goals, respectively, while Beckman and Carlyle displayed splendid guarding.

W. A. Ellis, Captain, Clayton, N. C. - For three years "Skeeter" has played all over that section of the diamond bounded by the first base, right field, center field, shortstop and pitcher, and has played it well. The fourth year finds this premier second-baseman captain of the 1922 team, and the selection is a worthy one. "Skeeter" is not only one of the fastest little infielders in the state, but he is also popular among all the fellows. We confidently expect him to lead his team to championship honors this spring.

J. F. Hoge, Manager, Beckley, W. Va. Some men have honors thrust upon them because of their popularity, others are given positions because of their ability, but Jimmie Hoge's election to the management of the '22 baseball team came as a result of both his popularity and ability. In spite of the many delays and innumerable little details in connection with arranging a satisfactory schedule, Jimmie has worked faithfully and optimistically throughout. Although the season is yet young, he has already completed the schedule with signed contracts for twenty-five games, including an extended trip through Virginia.

John C. Cadden, Coach, Wake Forest, N. C. - Coach Cadden needs no introduction to baseball lovers in North Carolina. About a dozen years ago, he was wearing an Old Gold and Black uniform behind the bat. After making a brilliant record in athletics and graduating from Wake Forest, he entered the business world. However, he did not lose his interest in athletics. Being a citizen of Wake Forest, he has always been an enthusiastic supporter of college athletics. As an umpire, he has been in great demand throughout the state, and he is widely recognized as an authority on the science and rules of the game. We expect him to develop a team this year which can not be excelled by any team in the state.

Baseball, 1921

BASEBALL, the department of athletics in which Wake Forest has long enjoyed a unique reputation in North Carolina, came within one game of fulfilling Wake Forest's highest expectations, the championship of the state, in the season of 1921. Coach White developed a team that may be rated above any of its predecessors of recent years, and Manager Mauney arranged a schedule that excelled the schedules of the past.

The season opened on March 18th in a practice game with the Red Oak High School, and closed in Chapel Hill on May 12th with the championship game against the University of North Carolina. The schedule for the season provided for twenty-four games, five of which were exhibition games with high schools and athletic clubs. Of the twenty-four, fifteen were won, five were lost, three tied and one prevented by rain. Of the five defeats sustained, three were at the hands of college teams, one to Trinity and two to Carolina. Only one college team tied the Baptist team. Wake Forest scored a total of 109 runs against a total for all opponents of 76, 23 of the opponents' total number of runs being scored by two league teams, Baltimore and Raleigh.

The greatest triumph of the season was the victory over N. C. State by a 1 to 0 score in an eleven-inning game of spectacular baseball, but the most noteworthy achievement of the season was the itinerary through South Carolina in which Wake Forest won each of the five games played. Two games were played with each college in North Carolina. The Carolina series were won by Carolina, the Trinity games were divided, and one of the N. C. State games resulted in a tie. All other games with state colleges were victories for Wake Forest.

The record for the 1921 baseball season may well be given a place along with the many other brilliant records made by Wake Forest nines, for it proclaims a successful season and a team that was a credit to the colors which it upheld.

Dedicated to the Lasses, O!

The war'ly race may riches chase,
 An' riches still may fly them, O;
 An' tho' at last they catch them fast,
 Their hearts can ne'er enjoy them, O.

But gie me a cannie hour at e'en,
 My arms about my dearie, O;
 An' war'ly cares, an' war'ly men,
 May a' gae topsalteeie, O.

For ye sae douce, ye sneer at this;
 Ye're nought but senseless asses, O;
 The wisest man the war' e'er saw,
 He dearly lov'd the lasses, O.

Auld nature swears, the lovely dears
 Her noblest work she classes, O;
 Her prentice han' she try'd on man,
 An' then she mad; the lasses, O.

Green grow the rashes, O!
 Green grow the rashes, O!
 The sweetest hours that e'er I spend
 Are spent among the lasses, O.

—Burns.

Spring Time

It was a lover, and his lass,
With a hey, and a ho, and a hey nonino,
That o'er the green corn-field did pass,
In spring time, the only pretty ring time,
When birds do sing, hey ding a ding, ding;
Sweet lovers love the spring.

—Shakespeare.

In the spring a livelier iris changes on the burnish'd dove;
In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love.

—Tennyson.

Buff Royall (in the moonlight): "Darling, something has been trembling on my lips for over a month."

His Meredith Girl: "Why don't you shave it off?"

* * *

BUT TIME HEALS

Buff: "Darling, will you marry me?"

She: "Yes, Buff, dear, I would love to marry you." (Ten minutes elapse.) "Buff, why don't you say something?"

Buff: "I have said too much already."

Official Rules of the Library

Not more than ten persons shall talk aloud at the same time, and then they must not use stronger words than shucks, detrit, dog-gone-it, by George, gee, Beelzebub, and damfino.

There must be no smoking of rabbit-tobacco, fig leaves, or corn silks; only tobacco smoke will be tolerated.

Students should not slip out more than three reference books at a time, if the class needs them. Get as many novels as you like. These, however, should be returned your senior year.

Don't register at the desk for any book you want. It will annoy the librarian.

Books in the stack room are for the use of the Faculty only, and students should not display their greenness by asking for any of them.

Chewing gum is feminine. Always chew real tobacco.

Spitting in another's face is positively forbidden. Use the floor for such motley deeds.

Poker shall not be played on the reading tables on Sunday. All bets on the game, when played, shall be confined to $5.00.

No one is allowed in the reading room without hob-nail shoes on. People might not notice your entrance.

No student is allowed to collect and keep all the story magazines for more than a half-day at a time.

Students who go to sleep at a reading table must not be disturbed. It would interfere with their personal liberty.

Magazines are for your use—clip them freely.

A big reward will be paid for the capture of anyone found using a dictionary, encyclopaedia, or other reference book. These books are made to look at.

Fines being imposed upon delinquents for the personal enrichment of the librarian, students are requested to make provision in their last will and testament for the payment of same.

War Inevitable

ARS and rumors of wars seem to be our lot, despite the fact that Wake Forest is supposed to sit serenely among her ancient groves. The declaration of barbaric warfare between Old Gold and Black and the editor of a near-by religious paper so claimed our attention that we failed to notice the gathering of another cloud or hear even the rumblings of its distant thunder. With the shots of the late war dying slowly away, we had hopes of a brighter and newer day dawning, a day when the peoples of our commonwealth would by common consent bind themselves together in a league to make forever impossible the recurrence of such atrocities as they had just undergone. The bright star of the world, The League of Nations, which had shone so brilliantly for a season, gave this same hope, not to a mere commonwealth, but to a blood-stained and starving world. But it failed. Politics destroyed the hope of the world. In a similar manner, politics destroyed the unselfish work of Ambassador A. Lobster Goodrich in his noble effort to insure peace to all the peoples of the state ere the last war had ceased.

Thus we find the storm of another war descending upon us in all its fury. The like of it has never before been seen, and the last one compared to this one will be a mere incident. Skirmishes have already been reported in Raleigh. A great array of counsel is being marshaled and trained in the ranks of the enemy. Within our own lines also tremendous forces are being mobilized. Our men are actuated by a high and noble motive, for they are fighting to self-defense, spurred on by the great idea of reducing the high cost of living. Sir Thomas Blackstone Allen has been unanimously elected to the position of generalissimo of our forces, and he has announced his iron-willed purpose to personally lead us in the battle.

The causes of this ruthless attack on Wake Forest are many and highly complicated. The trouble started back in the days when wienie stands were first established in Raleigh. Said Wake Forest men gradually began to eat wienies, to the loss of the Busy Bee Cafe. Matters kept getting worse, worse. The breaking point was reached when the Capitol Cafe established itself in new quarters, and thus began to claim another major part of Wake Forest's trade. To complicate matters further, other wienie stands sprang into existence, and ultimatums were immediately issued to these places by the original dog master. They continue in business at present, and even the Capitol Cafe has lost its flourishing trade because said Wake Forest men now get all their meals at wienie stands. Thus the struggle seems to have three principal factions. Cafes are presenting a solid front against Wake Forest on the ground that they used to get our trade and therefore should get it now. Likewise, they are arrayed against the hot-dog dispensers just as stubbornly, while these latter dog trainers will fight to a bitter end among themselves. The storm has not broken as yet, but an attack is expected at any moment. When hostilities do begin, it is expected that all Raleigh will become involved, due to the wide secret patronage of these cafes and wienie stands by the richest people of the city. We breathlessly await the command from our generalissimo, "To arms! To arms! Ye brave men, my comrades all!"

WHISPERING HOPE

Ray (after being laughed at for using the expression, "To get 'shet' of particularism"): "Isn't the expression, 'To get shet of' in good usage, Doctor?"

Dr. Pearson: "Dr. Tom doesn't use it; some of the other janitors may."

* * *

She: "What would you call a man who hid behind a woman's skirt?"

He: "A magician."

* * *

Prof.: "Why did James II and his wife, Mary, flee from England in the night?"

Student: "Because they had lost their supporters."

* * *

Interpretation of men's thoughts depend upon the age in which we live. For instance, our freshmen are interpreting the expression, "Hitch your wagon to a star," as meaning to find out everything possible about movie stars.

* * *

TAKE YOUR PEN IN HAND

Sentimental poetry gives promise of swamping our serene campus life within the near future. Ray, Goebel, Hasty, and Bostic are our most promising writers. For the sake of baseball, we hope that our spring weather will not be as slushy as the poetry it usually inspires. Some even have been inspired in the dead hours of night.

* * *

FROM CHIEF BOBBIT'S RECORD

"Freshman arrested for trying to smoke sewer pipe."

PERHAPS SO

Buff Royall, believing in Dr. Ben Dodd's theory that unstrained cocoa and coffee are injurious to a rosebud complexion, is growing a dense mustache to strain all liquids.

* * *

Barber: "Your hair is getting gray, sir."

Busy Man: "I'm not surprised; hurry up!"

* * *

Highbrow: "Lend me a dollar and I'll be forever indebted to you."

Thrifty: "Yes, I'm afraid so."

* * *

WHERE IT BEGAN

When Adam in bliss
Asked Eve for a kiss,

She puckered her lips with a coo;

With looks quite emphatic

Gave answer emphatic,

"I don't care A-dam if I do."

—Selected.

* * *

CERTAINLY

He: "If I were to kiss you on the forehead what would you do?"

She: "Why, I would call you down."

* * *

Father: "Haven't I told you not to play with your soldiers on Sunday?"

Son: "Oh, on Sunday they are my Salvation Army."

* * *

Hasty expects to win his letter in horseshoes this spring.

* * *

Father: "I thought you took algebra last year."

Son (in school): "I did, but the faculty gave me an encore."

Card of Appreciation

To the many students who have assumed an attitude of tolerance for this joke department, we wish to express our profound appreciation. We didn't expect you to laugh at these jokes, for many of them are neither fresh nor original, besides lacking humor. The only reason we run this department is to fulfill our contract with advertisers, whom we promised to run a page of jokes opposite every page of ads. Though this section is a joke within itself and may not please you, still a chronic grumbler is not much better than some of these jokes, perhaps.
